AMERICANS CLOSE TO VILLA'S BANDITS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—American troops are pressing close upon the heels of Francisco Villa and his fleeing bandits 240 miles south of the border, Major General Funston said today.

"I would not be surprised to hear at any time that our men had been in contact with the Villistas."

The United States troops are operating in six columns. Three of these are being directed by Col. Dodd. The three others are supporting columns from the forces that Colonel Slocum led into Mexico. General Pershing is at field headquarters but is in close touch with the rapidly moving troops.

The main base of the Americans in Mexico is at Casas Grandes. The chief outpost base is at El Valle. All the lines of communication are heavily guarded.

General Pershing in his reports to headquarters here has confirmed the reports that Villa succeeded in escaping from the "ring of steel" which the Carranzistas boasted had been drawn about the elusive bandit leader. Villa is now said to be in San Gerónimo canyon, south of Guerrero. Effective operations in this region will be very difficult for the Americans.

The canyon is about 150 miles long. It has precipitous sides that cannot be scaled and the few paths leading to the wooded heights above are known to few, even Mexicans. It was here that for years Villa defied the Mexican regulars sent by President Díaz to apprehend him.

General Funston was without any official confirmation today of reports that a body of Mexicans had attacked an American detachment near El Valle last Friday and that six American soldiers had been wounded. El Paso reports indicated that Carranzista soldiers took part in the attack but General Funston refused to discuss the rumor.

General Funston refused also to intimate what secret information as to conditions in Mexico had been given him in General Pershing's report. This part of Pershing's report was forwarded to Washington, but was deleted from that account given to the press here.

"What was deleted from General Pershing's report," General Funston was asked today.

"I decline to discuss it," was his reply.

"What about the Carranzistas' refusal to cooperate with the American troops?" the general was then asked.

"That is what I deleted," was Funston's answer.

Border reports persist in predicting that the Carranzistas will ultimately cast their lot with Villa. The American military authorities minimize these reports and attribute them to certain interests which they accuse of attempting to bring about intervention.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, March 27.—A German torpedo boat destroyer was sunk in battle with a squadron of British destroyers in the North Sea following the English air attack upon the coast of Schleswig-Holstein, it was announced today by the German admiralty.

It was stated that the air raid was unsuccessful, only two armed fishing outfits being destroyed.

A British torpedo boat was damaged by projectiles dropped upon it by German seaplanes.

SUBMARINE SINKS BRITISH TRANSPORT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 27.—Sinking of the British liner Minneapolis in the Mediterranean by a submarine was confirmed today. A Lloyd's despatch states, however, that all on board the vessel were saved with the exception of eleven men who were killed by the explosion that shattered the steamer's hull. Earlier reports had indicated that all on board were lost.

The Minneapolis was used by the British government as a transport and it is reported that she was destroyed near the spot where the French auxiliary cruiser La Provence was torpedoed.

SERIOUS FLOODS IN SOUTH WISCONSIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 27.—Serious flood conditions prevailed today over southern Wisconsin, and badly crippled wires brought reports of six dead in the flooded districts. It was feared the total list would be swelled by additions when communication lines were restored.

A heavy rain yesterday raised all the streams in the southwestern corner of the state, and there was not a roadway in the district but was covered with water.

The levees were reported in danger of going out at Portage, Wis., where flood conditions are worse than those of four years ago.

One of the features of the show will be the motorcycle exhibits.

The Auto Club of Ulster County will have a booth at the show and anyone who desires can join the association.

The officers of all the Chambers of Commerce along the river have been extended invitations to attend the show and it is expected that a number of them will be present.

It is confidently expected that at least five thousand will be present at the opening day of the show.

Passion Play Pleased Crowd.
The Passion Play in motion pictures drew another large crowd to the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Sunday afternoon. Youngsters were barred unless accompanied by their parents, a step which proved unpopular with some boys who threw snow until a police officer stopped their activities. The pictures showed the principal scenes in the life of the Saviour and proved interesting to the spectators who numbered more than 800.

RHINECLIFF FERRY RESUMES TRIPS

After battling with the ice for nearly an hour this morning the tug Rob and the ferryboat Transport broke a channel through the ice gorge that blocked the mouth of the Rondout creek, and the ferry is now making regular trips between Rondout and Rhinecliff. The ice gorge that put a stop to navigation formed several weeks ago when the ice in the upper creek ran out. The river was frozen over and the ice not having enough room in the river piled up at the mouth of the creek, forming a gorge that made it impossible for the Transport to get through and she was hauled off the route. Since that time a passenger service has been maintained across the river by several Rondout men running sleighs across the river on the ice. The warm weather of the past few days wasted the ice to such an extent that it was found possible to break a channel through today.

ELEMENDORF FINED FOR DISTURBANCE

Because His Son Was Punished For Lying, Elmendorf Made Too Much Noise in School No. 7.

The whipping of the young son of Edward Elmendorf by Principal Franklin P. Coons of School No. 7, led Mr. Elmendorf to visit the school on Friday afternoon and create such a disturbance that the study period was interfered with and resulted in Principal Coons having Mr. Elmendorf arrested. This morning after a trial Recorder Lang found Elmendorf guilty and fined him $3 which he paid.

From the story as brought out the Elmendorf boy threw a snow ball at noon time and broke a window. Mr. Coons made an investigation and from other boys at the school learned that the lad had thrown the snow ball. The boy was taken to the principal's study and spent the afternoon, and when questioned denied throwing the snow ball and accused another boy of doing it. The principal had seven or eight of the other boys brought to the study and they stated that Elmendorf was the one who threw the snow ball. Principal Coons thereupon whipped the lad. He said that he did not whip him for throwing the snow ball but for lying.

Questioned by the recorder as to how he chastised the boy Principal Coons said he followed his usual custom and took the boy across the knee and applied a ruler to that part of the anatomy where it would do the most good, although he did not use these words.

Shortly afterward Mr. Elmendorf called at the school and asked Principal Coons if he had whipped his boy and receiving an answer in the affirmative Mr. Elmendorf became, as he said, "mad" and pushed his fist under the principal's nose and talked loudly of what he would do.

Mr. Elmendorf's loud talk threw the school into a panic and one of the teachers ran to a telephone to ask for police assistance, whereupon Elmendorf left.

Mr. Elmendorf was backed up by his wife, who visited the school with him. Mr. Coons said that Mr. Elmendorf had a club the size of a baseball bat with him.

This was denied by the Elmendorfs and the wife unrolled a piece of paper and showed the recorder the club. It was a stick to hang curtains on.

Mr. Coons said that the stick produced by the Elmendorfs was not as large as the one they had at school.

Mr. Elmendorf said that it was the same one and that he had not sawed off a part of the stick.

Mr. Coons said that he had taught school for twenty-three years and this was the first time a man had "put his fist under his nose."

Recorder Lang after hearing both sides informed Mr. Elmendorf that on his own statement he had talked loudly and had put his fist under the principal's nose, and he found him guilty and imposed the fine mentioned.

Mr. Elmendorf, who is colored, drives for Walter S. Darling. Recorder Lang also called Mr. Elmendorf's attention to the fact that a school teacher under the law had the right to properly chastise a child in order to maintain order in the school.

ONE AMERICAN STILL MISSING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 27.—Ninety-seven persons, including one American woman, are missing as a result of the blowing off of the Channel liner Sussex off the French coast on Friday, according to revised official lists issued today in both London and Paris.

The missing woman is Mrs. C. A. Fennell of New York.

More than half a dozen of the American survivors have sworn to affidavits at the United States embassy declaring their belief that the ship was torpedoed by a submarine.

Fears for the safety of Prof. and Mrs. Mark Baldwin and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, were set at rest by a telegram from Boulogne stating that all had been landed on the French coast.

Erreous reports were circulated in the confusion on Saturday that Elizabeth Baldwin had died from her injuries. Miss Baldwin was wounded, but is in no danger of death, the Boulogne dispatch stated.

Miss Gertrude Barnes of New York is also safe. She had been listed as missing on Sunday.

The Sussex, which has been beached in Boulogne harbor, is being examined by Naval Lieutenant Smith and Captain Boyd, of the United States embassy in Paris, to determine if possible whether the ship was damaged by a mine or a torpedo.

Most of the Americans who swore that the ship was attacked by a submarine, based their information upon statements made by the captain and other officers of the vessel that they had seen the wake of a torpedo.

MOTORCYCLISTS MUST PAY $2.50

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 27.—Motorcyclists in this state making application for registration under the law which becomes effective April 1st are to be governed by the same districts that now prevail in connection with the registration of automobilists. The New York office of Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo will receive registration applications from all motorcyclists residing in New York, Kings, Richmond, Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Rockland and Putnam counties. At the Albany office applications should be filed by motorcyclists residing in the following counties: Albany, Broome, Chenango, Clinton, Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Montgomery, Oneida, Orange, Oswego, Otsego, Rensselaer, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schoenectady, Schenectady, Sullivan, Ulster, Warren and Washington counties. Motorcyclists in all other counties are requested to apply for registration at the Buffalo office of the secretary of state.

The license fee will be $2.50 and will be regardless of horsepower. Machines registering after August 1st will be given a one-half rate. This year's license plates will be effective until February 1, 1917. Estimates place the number of motorcyclists in this state at 40,000 which when licensed will bring a return of approximately $100,000. One-half the amount is to be turned over to the state treasurer and the other one-half goes to the counties in which the motorcyclists reside.

The motorcycle plates will be the same color as this year's auto plates but considerably smaller. Only one plate will be required to a machine. Attachment must be made to the rear. The numbers will not be hyphenated or have alphabetical zone designations. The law specifies that no person under sixteen years of age shall be permitted to run a motorcycle. Speed of over thirty miles an hour is also prohibited.

Although the new motorcycle bill was signed by the Governor only last week application for registration have already begun coming into the office of Secretary of State Hugo and within the next two weeks, providing pleasant weather prevails, the registration will be in full swing.

DEL VACCHIA FREED BY CORONER SUITOR

Coroner Suitor announced his findings in the Cedar Cliff homicide case this afternoon in Marlborough, holding that Antonio DelVacchia shot and killed Frank Bubby on the morning of March 13th.

"in the defense of his family and property" and the shooting was therefore justifiable under the law. From the time the first testimony was taken this disposition of the case has been anticipated and DelVacchia was released upon his own recognizance soon after giving himself up to the coroner when the sheriff's deputies were getting close to his hiding-place.

Donato, the dead man's partner, is still in a Poughkeepsie hospital with the outcome of his injuries in doubt. With Donato, Bubby returned to the Del Vacchia home in the early morning hours of the 13th with the avowed intention of shooting up the family. Rejection of his attentions by Del Vacchia's daughter a year before was at the bottom of his ill feeling.

Peter French, an Austrian, was the only witness to throw new light on the situation at the inquest. Through an interpreter he told of the social order at Cedar Cliff and the masquerade of March 7th when "the men women-dressed," French said that after the bal masque Bubby came to the place where he boarded with five Austrians and tried to organize a new dual entente, saying the party "would go out and shoot up all the Italians in the place."

The dead man a week later came to his boarding-place and said that he was going to kill Del Vacchia, Johanna, the daughter, and Bill Nash. In all 14 witnesses were examined and all the testimony supported the statements of Del Vacchia and his family.

In Italy the burden of proof of innocence is placed on the accused who it presumed guilty of the crime with which he is charged until he is proved innocent. Because of this fact, it was claimed, Del Vacchia took flight after the shooting.

KINGSTON MAN HURT IN PHILADELPHIA

Five men were injured, three of them seriously, in a collision between an automobile and an auto truck early Friday morning in Philadelphia, when the automobile attempted to pass the truck close to the curb line. All of the injured were taken to the Woman's Homeopathic Hospital in that city. Those most seriously hurt are: Ray Piper of Fulton, Dr. George E. Warren of Kingston, and Thomas F. Brennan. The truck belonged to the Adams Express Company. Both machines were said to be going at a high rate of speed and so far as it has been able to ascertain Piper attempted to pass the truck in a narrow space between the truck and the curb line and came together with a loud crash.

While the tale of a whipped boy was being retold in recorder's court this morning, painters of Contractor McKittrick were busy outside in the lower corridor destroying the lives of the millions of germs which the board of health believe had made their homes in the walls and ceilings of the building. The work of painting the lower corridor was a part of the program outlined by the building committee of the common council who were authorized to expend $1,500 on making necessary repairs to the city hall at the last meeting of the common council.

The walls of the lower corridor, where work was started this morning, had been muresoed years ago, but the passage of time had dimmed their luster and the dust and dirt had left them in filthy condition. In fact when Janitor Dawe was first appointed by Mayor Canfield he looked with disfavor on the walls and determined when he had time to clean them. As the hall was dark he thought the muresco was paint and one day with the assistance of Billy Scott he started the work of washing the walls with rather disastrous results. The muresco came off. This was discovered when but a few feet of wall had been washed and work stopped immediately.

Since then the walls have not gotten any cleaner and Alderman Schick, the general chairman of the building committee of the city fathers, after a glimpse of the walls, said that they were not in fit condition for any private home, let alone a public building, and that something should be done to clean up.

Mrs. Commissioner Michael also looked with disfavor on the condition of the walls and ceilings and thought that not only the halls but meeting room of the board of health should be cleaned. Dirty walls are an abomination and should not be endured by any respectable body of health officials when they meet every month to lay down laws and rules for cleaning up other sections of the city. Cleanup Day should start at the home office.

This morning not only was Alderman Schick on hand to watch the work but Mrs. Michael dropped in to see if the germs were being attended to. It is understood that in order that in the future the janitor may not only scrub the floors but also the walls will not be murescoed but painted. Muresco will not stand the appliance of water.

To aid along the joyful work of cleaning up the germs and microbes Janitor Dawe got busy and as it was a warm day decided that at last spring had really arrived and began taking down the storm doors that kept the wintry blasts from the lower corridor. In removing the storm doors whiskey bottles—empty—were found tucked away behind them out of sight.

Where the bottles came from is a mystery, but Janitor Dawe's supposition that they had been tucked away, when emptied, by the lodgers who called at the hall the past winter to find sleeping quarters for the night, is as good a solution of the mystery as any.

New filing cabinets are also being installed in the office of the board of public works and also in the board of health room.

The mayor's room, which is also used by the B. P. W., will also be gone over and a new floor laid. The city court room and the recorder's court room will also come in for their share of necessary painting and repairs.

The exhibit of free hand drawing by the pupils in the high school will be one of the features of the show.

A fine musical program will be rendered each afternoon and evening by Prof. Muller's orchestra.

The strife is very keen between the different exhibitors to win the prize offered by the management, but it begins to look as if it would be so hard to decide that the prize will be distributed to the six charitable institutions of the city.

One of the features of the show will be the motorcycle exhibits.

The Auto Club of Ulster County will have a booth at the show and anyone who desires can join the association.

The officers of all the Chambers of Commerce along the river have been extended invitations to attend the show and it is expected that a number of them will be present.

The exhibits will all be placed in the armory on Wednesday so there will be no delay in opening the show on Thursday at 2 p. m.

It is confidently expected that at least five thousand will be present at the opening day of the show.

Passion Play Pleased Crowd.

The Passion Play in motion pictures drew another large crowd to the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Sunday afternoon. Youngsters were barred unless accompanied by their parents, a step which proved unpopular with some boys who threw snow until a police officer stopped their activities. The pictures showed the principal scenes in the life of the Saviour and proved interesting to the spectators who numbered more than 300.

UNRAVELLING AMAZING POISON CASE IN NEW YORK.

Layout shows: Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, his wife, and his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck.

New York, March 27.—The police and members of the district attorney's staff are busily engaged in unravelling the activities of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, a surgeon dentist of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is now under arrest charged with having administered arsenic to his millionaire father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck, in his apartments on Riverside Drive.

It has been discovered, it is said, that Dr. Waite, who is but 29 years of age, maintained two establishments in New York, one on Riverside Drive, where he lived with his wife, and another at the Hotel Plaza, in the name of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Walters, where he lived with a woman said to be a former show-girl.

ELEMENDORF FINED FOR DISTURBANCE

Because His Son Was Punished For Lying, Elmendorf Made Too Much Noise in School No. 7.

The whipping of the young son of Edward Elmendorf by Principal Franklin P. Coons of School No. 7, led Mr. Elmendorf to visit the school on Friday afternoon and create such a disturbance that the study period was interfered with and resulted in Principal Coons having Mr. Elmendorf arrested. This morning after a trial Recorder Lang found Elmendorf guilty and fined him $3 which he paid.

From the story as brought out the Elmendorf boy threw a snow ball at noon time and broke a window. Mr. Coons made an investigation and from other boys at the school learned that the lad had thrown the snow ball. The boy was taken to the principal's study and spent the afternoon, and when questioned denied throwing the snow ball and accused another boy of doing it. The principal had seven or eight of the other boys brought to the study and they stated that Elmendorf was the one who threw the snow ball. Principal Coons thereupon whipped the lad. He said that he did not whip him for throwing the snow ball but for lying.

Questioned by the recorder as to how he chastised the boy Principal Coons said he followed his usual custom and took the boy across the knee and applied a ruler to that part of the anatomy where it would do the most good, although he did not use these words.

Shortly afterward Mr. Elmendorf called at the school and asked Principal Coons if he had whipped his boy and receiving an answer in the affirmative Mr. Elmendorf became, as he said, "mad" and pushed his fist under the principal's nose and talked loudly of what he would do.

Mr. Elmendorf's loud talk threw the school into a panic and one of the teachers ran to a telephone to ask for police assistance, whereupon Elmendorf left.

Mr. Elmendorf was backed up by his wife, who visited the school with him. Mr. Coons said that Mr. Elmendorf had a club the size of a baseball bat with him.

This was denied by the Elmendorfs and the wife unrolled a piece of paper and showed the recorder the club. It was a stick to hang curtains on.

Mr. Coons said that the stick produced by the Elmendorfs was not as large as the one they had at school.

Mr. Elmendorf said that it was the same one and that he had not sawed off a part of the stick.

Mr. Coons said that he had taught school for twenty-three years and this was the first time a man had "put his fist under his nose."

Recorder Lang after hearing both sides informed Mr. Elmendorf that on his own statement he had talked loudly and had put his fist under the principal's nose, and he found him guilty and imposed the fine mentioned.

Mr. Elmendorf, who is colored, drives for Walter S. Darling.

Recorder Lang also called Mr. Elmendorf's attention to the fact that a school teacher under the law had the right to properly chastise a child in order to maintain order in the school.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 27.—Ninety-seven persons, including one American woman, are missing as a result of the blowing up of the Channel liner Sussex off the French coast on Friday, according to revised official lists issued today in both London and Paris.

The missing woman is Mrs. C. A. Fennell of New York.

More than half a dozen of the American survivors have sworn to affidavits at the United States embassy declaring their belief that the ship was torpedoed by a submarine.

Fears for the safety of Prof. and Mrs. Mark Baldwin and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, were set at rest by a telegram from Boulogne stating that all had been landed on the French coast.

Erroneous reports were circulated in the confusion on Saturday that Elizabeth Baldwin had died from her injuries. Miss Baldwin was wounded, but is in no danger of death, the Boulogne dispatch stated.

Miss Gertrude Barnes of New York is also safe. She had been listed as missing on Sunday.

The Sussex, which has been beached in Boulogne harbor, is being examined by Naval Lieutenant Smith and Captain Boyd, of the United States embassy in Paris, to determine if possible whether the ship was damaged by a mine or a torpedo.

Most of the Americans who swore that the ship was attacked by a submarine, based their information upon statements made by the captain and other officers of the vessel that they had seen the wake of a torpedo.

MOTORCYCLISTS MUST PAY $2.50

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 27.—Motorcyclists in this state making application for registration under the law which becomes effective April 1st are to be governed by the same districts that now prevail in connection with the registration of automobilists. The New York office of Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo will receive registration applications from all motorcyclists residing in New York, Kings, Richmond, Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester, Rockland and Putnam counties. At the Albany office applications should be filed by motorcyclists residing in the following counties: Albany, Broome, Chenango, Chilton, Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Greene, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Montgomery, Oneida, Orange, Oswego, Otsego, Rensselaer, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schoenectady, Schoharie, Sullivan, Ulster, Warren and Washington counties. Motorcyclists in all other counties are requested to apply for registration at the Buffalo office of the secretary of state.

The license fee will be $2.50 and will be regarded as horsepower. Machines registering after August 1st will be given a one-half rate. This year's license plates will be effective until February 1, 1917. Estimates place the number of motorcyclists in this state at 40,000 which when licensed will bring a return of approximately $100,000. One-half the amount is to be turned over to the state treasurer and the other one-half goes to the counties in which the motorcyclists reside.

The motorcycle plates will be the same color as this year's auto plates but considerably smaller. Only one plate will be required to a machine. Attachment must be made to the rear. The numbers will not be hyphenated or have alphabetical zone designations. The law specifies that no person under sixteen years of age shall be permitted to run a motorcycle. Speed of over thirty miles an hour is also prohibited.

Although the new motorcycle bill was signed by the Governor only last week application for registration have already begun coming into the office of Secretary of State Hugo and within the next two weeks, providing pleasant weather prevails, the registration will be in full swing.

Coroner Suitor announced his findings in the Cedar Cliff homicide case this afternoon in Marlborough, holding that Antonio DelVacchia shot and killed Frank Bubby on the morning of March 13th "in the defense of his family and property" and the shooting was therefore justifiable under the law. From the time the first testimony was taken this disposition of the case has been anticipated and DelVacchia was released upon his own recognizance soon after giving himself up to the coroner when the sheriff's deputies were getting close to his hiding-place.

Donato, the dead man's partner, is still in a Poughkeepsie hospital with the outcome of his injuries in doubt with Donato, Bubby returned to the Del Vacchia home in the early morning hours of the 13th with the avowed intention of shooting up the family. Rejection of his attentions by Del Vacchia's daughter a year before was at the bottom of his ill feeling.

Peter French, an Austrian, was the only witness to throw new light on the situation at the inquest. Through an interpreter he told of the social order at Cedar Cliff and the masquerade of March 7th when "the men women-dressed," French said that after the ball masquerade Bubby came to the place where he boarded with five Austrians and tried to organize a new dual tents, saying the party "would go out and shoot up all the Italians in the place."

The dead man a week later came to his boarding-place and said that he was going to kill Del Vacchia, Johanna, the daughter, and Bill Nash. In all 14 witnesses were examined and all the testimony supported the statements of Del Vacchia and his family.

In Italy the burden of proof of innocence is placed on the accused who it presumed guilty of the crime with which he is charged until he is proved innocent. Because of this fact, it was claimed, Del Vacchia took flight after the shooting.

REGULARS IN CITY SUNDAY.

Cavalrymen Bound For Fort Meyer Would Go Further South.

Quite a martial appearance was given the West Shore railroad station about 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning when 400 United States cavalrymen detained in the yards and walked about while their special train halted for a quarter hour. The soldiers were bound from Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, to Fort Meyer, Virginia. They made a spirited invasion of lunch rooms in the vicinity of the station.

"Ain't you afraid of going to war?" asked one urchin whose curiosity got the better of his awe. "There's only one thing we're afraid of, sonnie," said one lank private, "and that is we won't reach the border in time for the party."

Another one sprung this one from Washington that the president wasn't going to occupy his summer residence at Cornish this season.

"Why not?" asked a bystander. "Oh, he wants to get his Villa in Mexico first," was the report and the khaki clad bunch moved on.

Spencer's Business School Notes.

Newell S. Cranston of the combined course has secured a good business position as bookkeeper in the cost department of the General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Marian Owens, a graduate of the shorthand department, has obtained a permanent position as stenographer with Gilbert Kennedy, attorney and counselor at law, 25 Broadway, this city.

Miss Mae Brodhead, an experienced graduate, has secured a first-class office position with the New York Telephone Company, this city.

Ramon Diaz, a graduate of the commercial department, has secured a splendid position with Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company, 516-520 West 34th street, New York. This is one of the largest corporations of its kind in the country. Mr. Diaz writes that the course as taught at Spencer's is "worth its weight in gold."

Miss Vera Wasim, 65 Johnston avenue, who has been taking a thorough course in stenography and typewriting, has been placed through the free employment department of Spencer's in a good position as stenographer with the Canfield Supply Company, this city.

Several other graduates have accepted good business positions with large commercial houses during the week, and their names will be published in the local papers in due course of time. Spencer's school has been so long and favorably known to a big business world that its graduates have little difficulty in securing lucrative positions with fair salaries at the start. Frequently there are more vacancies than graduates to recommend. April third will bring a new class of young people who will take up the studies of bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, banking and business practice. Any young person anticipating a business course is cordially invited to visit Spencer's for an inspection of its methods and equipment.

Such a Record-Breaker. Strolling across a large estate, he came upon a man fishing. "What sort of fish do you catch here?" he said. "Mostly trout," replied the man. "How many have you caught?" "About ten or twelve, sir." "What is about the heaviest you have caught?" continued the gentleman. "Well, I don't know the weight, but the water sunk two or three feet when I pulled it out."

YOUR BRONCHIAL TUBES

When a cold settles in the bronchial tubes, with that weakening, tickling cough, immediate treatment is very important. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present, your head jars with every cough and your chest may ache. This is no time for experimenting or delay—you must get Scott's Emulsion at once to drive out the cold which started the trouble, and it will check the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you have any symptoms of bronchitis, or even a stubborn cold, always remember that Scott's Emulsion has been relieving this trouble for forty years. It is free from alcohol or drugs. Refuse substitutes.

SOME CHOICE DESSERTS.

For very nice occasions one likes a dainty, pretty and satisfying dessert.

Most of the following are too costly for everyday use, but on rare occasions we may all indulge.

Nesselrode Pudding.—Make a custard of two cups of milk, two cups of sugar, five egg yolks, and a pinch of salt. Cook in a double boiler until smooth, strain and add a half cupful of pineapple juice, three cups of cream and a pint of chestnuts that have been boiled tender and passed through a potato ricer. Then freeze as usual. When frozen, line a two-quart mold with part of the mixture, add to the remainder one cupful of candied fruits, finely minced; one-half cupful of Sultana raisins and six chopped chestnuts (uncooked). Fill the mold and pack in ice and salt; let stand three or four hours to ripen. This quantity will serve 12 amply, and is entirely worth the work of preparation, for it is truly most delectable.

Nougat Ice Cream.—Make a custard, using one cupful of sugar, two cups of milk, five egg yolks and a half teaspoonful of salt; cook and strain. When cool, add two cups of cream, whipped; then add a fourth of a cupful each of chopped filberts, walnuts, almonds, and hickory nuts, a teaspoonful of almond extract and the well-beaten whites of the eggs folded in. Freeze as usual and allow to stand for four hours.

Pineapple Mousse.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in a fourth of a cupful of water. Heat a cupful of pineapple sirup, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a cupful and a half of sugar and the gelatin; strain and cool. When the mixture thickens fold in a quart of whipped cream. Put into a mold and pack in ice and salt. Let stand four hours.

Pistachio Ice Cream.—Pound four ounces of the blanched pistachio nuts in a mortar, add a few drops of rose water to form a paste. Add one cupful of cream and one of sugar. Mix all together with another cupful of sugar and three cups of cream, six eggs. Cook until smooth and thick, then freeze as usual.

TWO PRACTICAL PATRIOTS.

How a Brother and Sister in Oklahoma Provided a School Flag—Why the Ancient Romans Revered the Candle. A Winsome Lady at Play.

In Oklahoma a brother and sister of ten and thirteen years, respectively, got the idea from reading that the district country school ought to have a flag. A mention of the need seemed to call forth little enthusiasm, and so, keeping their purpose secret, they begged some red, white and blue material, cut and sewed diligently at spare times, formed a correctly proportioned banner a yard wide and four feet long and, working one night by moonlight until after 12 o'clock, without consent of the directors they cut, trimmed, dragged and planted upright a slender pole nearly thirty feet tall and from unfurled the flag on a balcony line in the morning wind. The teacher and scholars gathered later and sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the flagmakers received a substantial remuneration as a surprise in turn from the whole community.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Birds in the United States.
There are 500,000,000 birds in the United States, according to an estimate made a little while ago by the government. This means that there are about five birds to every man, woman and child in this wide country. Bird lovers in every part of the United States assisted in taking this count. The census was taken by acres, and the most scientific methods were used. Those districts in which no count was possible were sized up by the results obtained from nearby places where the census had been thoroughly conducted. The final estimate is said to be reasonably near the actual figure.

Romans and the Candle.
According to Plutarch, the ancient Romans would not extinguish a candle, letting it burn out instead. The reason, he states, was that they considered fire an animal, for it needs nourishment, moves itself, grows with added food and when extinguished gives a gasp as if slain. The Romans were opposed to ending the life of so useful a creature. Probably they changed their minds quickly respecting this when a house got afire.

George Ade Defines Indiana.
In the American Magazine George Ade says:

"Indiana is a composite of steel mills and country clubs, factories and colleges, promoters and professors, stock-breeders and Chautauqua attractions, cornfields and campuses. It grows all the crops and propaganda known to the temperate zone.

"If a high wall could be erected to inclose Indiana the state would continue to operate in all departments, but the outsiders would have to scale the wall in order to get their dialect poetry."

An Artist's Criticism.

Probably no two artists ever criticized each other more severely than did Fuseli and Northcote, yet they remained fast friends. At one time Fuseli was looking at Northcote's painting of the angel meeting Raimon and his ass. "How did you like it?" asked Northcote after a long silence. "Northcote," replied Fuseli promptly, "you're an angel at an ass, but an ass at an angel."

That Telltale Tea.

"How old is your big sister?" asked a caller of a little girl who was entertaining him in a Washington home until said big sister came in.

"Well," replied the little girl, "I don't know just how old she is, but she has got to be the age when tea rests her."—Saturday Evening Post.

Mother's Care.

"You think that your daughter is too young to marry, madam, but you yourself were married very early."

"That's just it. You see I want to prevent my daughter from being a mother-in-law too young."—Megendorfer Blaetter.

Forgetmenot.

A gentleman whose beautiful grounds were often visited by the public had an old gardener who was in the habit of showing parties round the beds. At such times he would in a hurried, gabbling voice explain the names to the visitors.

When nearing the exit gate he would, however, suddenly pause and draw special attention to a pretty cluster of modest posies and then, in a significant tone of voice, exclaim: "These, ladies and gentlemen, are forget-me-nots."—Chicago News.

Bullfighting.

In tradition the bullfight dates from the time before Hercules is said to have visited Spain and driven off the wonderful cattle of Geryon. In actual recorded history it antedates Caesar's campaign in Hispania, but the fight that is witnessed by the present day visitor in Madrid, Seville or Valencia is far more exciting and cruel than the contests between the noble Spaniard and the noble bull four centuries ago. A first class spectacle now involves the torturing and killing of seven or eight bulls and at least thirty horses.

England's Wettest Harvest.

The year 1812 was the year of the wet harvest in England, the worst ever known. It rained incessantly all September, October and during most of November, and Nov. 29 farmers were cutting barley, a sharp wind frost prevailing. Wheat was 63 shillings a comb, and so bad was it in quality that dough made from the flour resembled slime. Every Monday morning the overseers and churchwardens met at the parish churches to devise means to provide employment and relieve the starving poor.—London Standard.

Liberal Translations.

At a certain foreign university the students, who had been studying Shakespeare in their native tongue, were requested by an examiner to translate into English the opening lines of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be." The following was the result: The first Frenchman declaimed, "To was or not to am;" the second rendered it, "To were or is to not," while the third gave a still more liberal reading, "To should or not to will."—New York Globe.

Our Friends of Fiction.

It is well to balance the influence of one's transient mortal associations by acquiring a peaceful intimacy with these ever living men and women whose deeds, aspirations, love and courage are recorded in books, who are never against us, who never despise us, nor fail us, nor betray us, being stripped now of that mortal part which renders all men uncertain, liable to hypocrisies, conceits and a sort of human heinousness which life in the flesh never quite escapes.—Corra Harris in New York Independent.

REGULARS IN CITY SUNDAY.

Cavalrymen Bound For Fort Meyer Would Go Further South.

Quite a martial appearance was given the West Shore railroad station about 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning when 400 United States Cavalrymen detained in the yards and walked about while their special train halted for a quarter hour. The soldiers were bound from Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, to Fort Meyer, Virginia. They made a spirited invasion of lunch rooms in the vicinity of the station. "Ain't you afraid of going to war?" asked one urchin whose curiosity got the better of his awe. "There's only one thing we're afraid of, sonnie," said one lank private, "and that is that we won't reach the border in time for the party."

Another one sprung this one from Washington that the president wasn't going to occupy his summer residence at Cornish this season. "Why not?" asked a bystander. "Oh, he wants to get his Villa in Mexico first," was the retort and the khaki clad bunch moved on.

Spencer's Business School Notes.

Nowell S. Cranston of the combined course has secured a good business position as bookkeeper in the cost department of the General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Miss Marian Owens, a graduate of the shorthand department, has obtained a permanent position as stenographer with Gilbert Kennedy, attorney and counselor at law, 25 Broadway, this city.

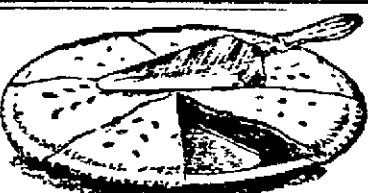

Miss Mae Broadhead, an experienced graduate, has secured a first-class office position with the New York Telephone Company, this city. Ramon Diaz, a graduate of the commercial department, has secured a splendid position with Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company, 210-220 West 31st street, New York. This is one of the largest corporations of its kind in the country. Mr. Diaz writes that the course as taught at Spencer's is "worth its weight in gold."

Miss Vera Wasim, 65 Johnston avenue, who has been taking a thorough course in stenography and typewriting, has been placed through the free employment department of Spencer's in a good position as stenographer with the Canfield Supply Company, this city.

Several other graduates have accepted good business positions with large commercial houses during the week, and their names will be published in the local papers in due course of time. Spencer's school has been so long and favorably known to a big business world that its graduates have little difficulty in securing lucrative positions with fair salaries at the start. Frequently there are more vacancies than graduates to recommend. April third will bring a new class of young people who will take up the studies of bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting, banking and business practice. Any young person anticipating a business course is cordially invited to visit Spencer's for an inspection of its methods and equipment.

Such a Record-Breaker.

Strolling across a large estate, he came upon a man fishing. "What sort of fish do you catch here?" he said. "Mostly trout," replied the man. "How many have you caught?" "About ten or twelve, sir." "What is about the heaviest you have caught?" continued the gentleman. "Well, I don't know the weight, but the water sunk two or three feet when I pulled it out."

YOUR BRONCHIAL TUBES

When a cold settles in the bronchial tubes, with that weakening, tickling cough, immediate treatment is very important. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present, your head jars with every cough and your chest may ache. This is no time for experimenting or delay--you must get Scott's Emulsion at once to drive out the cold which started the trouble, and it will check the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you have any symptoms of bronchitis, or even a stubborn cold, always remember that Scott's Emulsion has been relieving this trouble for forty years. It is free from alcohol or drugs. Refuse substitutes.

SOME CHOICE DESSERTS.

For very nice occasions one likes a dainty, pretty and satisfying dessert.

Most of the following are too costly for everyday use, but on rare occasions we may all indulge.

Nesselrode Pudding.—Make a custard of two cupsful of milk, two cupsful of sugar, five egg yolks and a pinch of salt. Cook in a double boiler until smooth, strain and add a half cupful of pineapple juice, three cupsful of cream and a pint of chestnuts that have been boiled tender and passed through a potato ricer. Then freeze as usual. When frozen, line a two-quart mold with part of the mixture, add to the remainder one cupful of candied fruits, finely minced; one-half cupful of Sultanina raisins and six chopped chestnuts (uncooked). Fill the mold and pack in ice and salt; let stand three or four hours to ripen. This quantity will serve 12 amply, and is entirely worth the work of preparation, for it is truly most delectable.

Nougat Ice Cream.—Make a custard, using one cupful of sugar, two cupsful of milk, five egg yolks and a half teaspoonful of salt; cook and strain. When cool, add two cupsful of cream, whipped; then add a fourth of a cupful each of chopped filberts, walnuts, almonds, and hickory nuts, a teaspoonful of almond extract and the well-beaten whites of the eggs folded in. Freeze as usual and allow to stand for four hours.

Pineapple Mousse.—Soak a tablespoonful of gelatin in a fourth of a cupful of water. Heat a cupful of pineapple sirup, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, a cupful and a half of sugar and the gelatin; strain and cool. When the mixture thickens fold in a quart of whipped cream. Put into a mold and pack in ice and salt. Let stand four hours.

Pistachio Ice Cream.—Pound four ounces of the blanched pistachio nuts in a mortar, add a few drops of rose water to form a paste. Add one cupful of cream and one of sugar. Mix all together with another cupful of sugar and three cupsful of cream, six eggs. Cook until smooth and thick, then freeze as usual.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAR. 27, 1916.

From fifteen to twenty-five years ago popular series of boys' books related adventures of trappers and troops from the United States frontier army posts with Mexican "greasers" in the country now being traversed by the American Army in pursuit of Villa and his bandits. The intensity of the stories lay mainly in the detailed description of camp life, trail-following and scout duty, culminating always in a pitched battle in which wild Indian tribes took a not inconspicuous part. The Indians are eliminated in consideration of the present Mexican campaign, but the stories coming from correspondents at the front bear a strong likeness to the fanciful tales which aroused in more than one full-blooded youngster a desire to become either a cowboy or a soldier. Many of the boys' stories were founded on fact—biographies, records, newspaper reports of actual occurrences. After the lapse of so many years it is strange to see fiction enacted in fact. Such incidents, however are not without precedent. One generation witnessed the imaginary trip of Phineas Fagg around the world in eighty days cut in actuality to nearly one-half that time, and real submarine trips are equally as thrilling as those created by the imagination of Jules Verne and recited by him in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Actually, submarine experiments in America date back more than a century, as readers of The Freeman will recall who read clippings from a newspaper published in 1812-15 and republished at the time of Kingston's two-hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration. Cyrano de Bergerac, living in the sixteenth century, furnished material for aerial adventures in his "Trip to the Moon." Fiction and science are not always far apart.

The conviction in New York city of two sisters who obtained $7,450 from a seventy-year-old servant on the promise that they would so invest the money as to return her an income sufficient for her to be a "lady," calls attention to the large number of people seeking social prestige who lose their competence or fortune, as the case may be, in seeking ways by which they may live up to their ideas of aristocracy. If they are able to imitate someone with wealth, ignorant men and women readily become the dupes of schemers and adventurers. Striving to appear what they are not, they are not particular as to the means employed to gain their ends, but too often their plans fail because they have been too glib in accepting stories of rapid fortunes and easy living. Good clothes, an affected manner and self-advertising on the part of adventurers are the principal qualities which attract the ignorant social climbers, who readily part with what wealth they possess in pursuit of the unattainable—unattainable for the reason that there are so many individuals along the way who are ever ready with a plan to demonstrate that "a fool and his money are soon parted."

Every public service corporation worthy of the name is accessible to the public by telephone, but that condition is not true of the Kingston postoffice. However irrational the fact may sound, the postoffice actually has a telephone with which connection is withheld from local subscribers to the New York Telephone Company's service. A subscriber who asks "information" for the postoffice telephone number is politely told that it is a private telephone, and that as far as he gets toward a wire communication, if this is the conception of public usefulness to which the postoffice department subscribes, small wonder at the shortcomings of the mail service across the river or anywhere else. The motive of an individual who keeps his name and number from the telephone directory is comprehensible, but just how this proceeding serves the patrons of the postoffice passes human understanding. Doubtless the practice may free the force of employees some petty annoyances, but that is hardly the object of the postoffice as we understand it.

The strife over the superiority of milk from Jerseys and Holsteins dates so far back in antiquity that it is useless for anyone seriously to contend in Kingston that it is a new issue, and in considering the butterfat problem the Board of Health will save time by obtaining any historical information that may be necessary from some good encyclopedia. Health and hygiene regulations which have been made and enforced apply not only to Jerseys, Holsteins and Guernseys, but to every other breed of cow as well, so the butterfat question is not at issue and such problems can be relegated to the field of academic discussion at impromptu debates among cattle raisers in their spare moments.

ANNUAL MINSTRELS.

Church of the Redeemer Young Men to Appear in May.

The Young Men's Brotherhood of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will give their annual minstrel show in St. Peter's Hall during the second week of May. Ray G. Walter will act as conductor. Mr. Walter has established an enviable reputation for himself in amateur minstrelsy and his association with this year's show in the capacity of conductor justifies the slogan, "bigger and better than ever."

The ends will be covered by Fred W. Weber, the veteran minstrel man, Fred J. Spangenberg, the well-known fun-maker, Ray G. Walter and C. J. Heiselman.

The Brotherhood quartet, famous for its excellence throughout the county, will again be composed of the peerless four, Herman Latour, first tenor; Richard A. Scherer, second tenor; Harry J. Wieber, first bass, and Carl M. Pierson, second bass.

The skit is being prepared and will be announced later. Tickets will be placed on sale in a short time and the public, who awaits each spring with expectancy, is urged to "come early and avoid the rush."

The Young Men's Brotherhood was organized six years ago and has a membership at present of 42 young men. It has a finely furnished and equipped frat house at 27 Rogers street, across from the church. Any young man is eligible for membership. The purpose of the organization is to provide an atmosphere of clean, good fellowship for young men, to keep them interested in Christ's Church, and to keep them away from undesirable influences. It has succeeded admirably in its purpose, and it extends to all young men a cordial invitation to investigate what it offers for the general good.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Dainty Lingerie Combination.
1537—Ladies' Dressing Sack and Underskirt, with or without Flounce. Batiste, lawn, crepe, silk, or organdy could be used for these models, with lace or embroidery for the trimming. The flounce may be omitted. The sack is cut in kimono fashion, and is finished with a deep shaped collar. As here shown white batiste was used, with "Val" edging and insertion for trimming. The skirt is a good model for satene, taffeta, or moreen. The pattern, comprising both styles illustrated, is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. It requires 2½ yards for the sack, and 4½ yards for the skirt, without flounce, of 36-inch material; with the flounce the skirt will require 6½ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

SHACKLETON BACK AFTER MORE THAN YEAR IN SOUTH POLAR REGIONS.

Lieutenant Shackleton left England shortly after the start of the war, financed partly by a government appropriation and partly by subscriptions from wealthy persons interested in explorations near the South Pole. The section of the expedition which he commanded set sail about a year ago in the ship Endurance from the island of South Georgia, east of Cape Horn.

It was Shackleton's aim to cross the South Polar seas under the British flag and to survey the surrounding icefields to determine if possible whether the Andes Mountain range was continued to the pole. A second party set sail from Tasmania, on the other side of the Antarctic, planning to meet the Shackleton expedition in the Polar Sea.

It was originally planned to emerge from the Antarctic zone early last spring, renewing the enterprise several months later. This plan was changed, however, and the expeditions wintered near the pole. No word has been heard from the expedition since the Shackleton party left South Georgia Island.

Every Day, Everywhere!

The newspaper is the universal advertising medium. It is read everywhere, and every day.

It comes fresh and new with each edition. Its interest never grows stale.

People naturally turn to the advertising in the newspaper because they regard it as part of the events of the day.

Manufacturers through newspaper advertising not only create consumer demands, but secure also that much desired factor, dealer co-operation.

A booklet telling about this will be mailed on request to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, World Bldg., New York.

ROTARIANS VISIT NEW KINGSTON CLUB

From Albany and New York They Whirled Into Kingston and They Whirled Out Again After Greeting the New Club.

The Rotary Club whirled into its Kingston orbit Saturday night with a speed and an enthusiasm that surpassed the most sanguine expectations and for five hours the Hotel Eichler, where the inaugural was staged, was the scene of a most festive session in which thirty Rotarians from Albany and New York participated with thirty-one embryo members from this city. Rotary is unique in the fact that it has no grips or pass words and the work is as open as the day. With one representative of every business and profession in the city in its membership, Rotary furnishes a sort of clearing house for the exchange of ideas and broadens the business viewpoint of every member in a way possible through no other medium in modern life.

All these and other advantages were pointed out by the visitors who were tendered an informal reception at the hotel following their arrival and at the dinner which followed there was singing throughout, followed by speeches by way of conclusion. The Rotary song book from Albany was in evidence together with enough tracts for foreign as well as domestic missionary work.

President George D. Elwell of the Albany Rotary sang "The Close of a Perfect Day" while the Rev. George Dugan gave "Where the River Flows." President Elwell also acted as toastmaster and at the outset delivered a ringing endorsement of Rotary and Rotary principles based on his personal experience. As a testimony meeting, the gathering was an assured success and "pep" plus marked the oratory and its reception by the audience.

William J. Gettinger, international vice-president, was the first speaker and proved a live wire whose mental sparks made a quick contact with his hearers. He brought greetings from President Allen R. Albert of the International Association of Rotary Clubs and the 22,000 business men who make up the order in the United States, Canada, England and Ireland. He said the speaker, than any of the clubs and lodges to which he belonged. He explained the various objects including the one "to promote the sanitizing of acquaintance," and said that Rotary in its best sense presented the opportunity of service and a means to success in life.

"Your organization is going to do a lot of good in Kingston," he declared, "don't try to take the place of the Chamber of Commerce or any other body, be an errand boy for the Chamber of Commerce and co-operate with every organization in their efforts for the good of the city. Rotary is the only organization where men of every nation and creed can meet on one clean, common level and the unique thing that holds it together is the fact that there is only one member from each separate business classification."

The speaker urged the new members to embrace the opportunities offered by Rotary to learn something of the other fellow's business so that local problems could be judged intelligently as a result. He advised them to read the code of ethics of the club and the reasons for being a Rotarian issued in pamphlet form. The speaker also declared that any man who entered Rotary for the sole idea of profit was in the wrong organization and made plain that the idea of a close corporation for commercial purposes was far from being any part of the club's existence. He referred to the broadening influence of Rotary in the field of business and pleasure and declared it "opens the door to read brotherhood in the exchange of frank, open discussion of the world's work."

Mr. Gettinger pointed out the educational advantages of Rotary and said that each man broadens his own vision of paying heed to his neighbor's experiences. "Deep in each man's heart," he said, "is a craving for intimate association with his fellow men, but often lack of time prevents his breaking through the conventional wall that opposes him. Rotary breaks this wall for him and draws him easily and naturally into the circle of friendship. His association gives him a status that a lifetime would hardly bring about, and thus multiplies his advantages a hundred fold."

Secretary DeRouville of the Albany Club followed with a brief speech of welcome and Secretary Beamish of the New York Rotary extended a cordial invitation to the Kingston branch to visit the New York headquarters when in that city.

The Rev. Dr. Dugan emphasized the most important note in Rotary as being service to one's fellow men. Inspiration and opportunity for such service, he declared, was presented to business men by Rotary and his eloquent endorsement of the club and its objects proved one of the gems of the evening.

John T. D. Blackburn, who said he had been in the smoke of battle on the Mexican border with Major Chandler during dinner, expressed his enjoyment of the Kingston brand of hospitality and spoke briefly on the Rotary text, "He profits best who serves most." He gave Godspeed to the new branch.

Willis Hills made a graceful little speech of acknowledgement in behalf of the local Rotarians and told of the impressions he had gained from his not infrequent visits to sessions of the Albany Rotary. He also praised the spirit of Rotary which had prompted the visiting delegations to lend their presence in the mission field down the Hudson Valley.

That the Rotary Club is something needed in Kingston today was the point made by A. D. Pardee, who spoke briefly on the Rotary principles. The field which the new organization invades, he declared, is not covered by the Chamber of Commerce nor by any fraternities. That Kingston will profit from the activities of the Rotary and the members make it a real working force in the community was his prophecy in conclusion.

Mayor Canfield was the last speaker and went back to the Greek philosopher who held many friends because he "expected nothing from 'em," as the spirit of Rotarians who should expect nothing from the order but give their best to it. He spoke enthusiastically of Rotary and expressed the hope that the visiting delegations some day would return for the hearty welcome that the then full-fledged Kingston organization would have in store for them.

The train for Albany pulling in at this time was all that prevented an encore for "Auld Lang Syne" which was sung with everyone standing and so closed one of the gingeriest sessions that any new organization has pulled off in Kingston in many a day.

The visitors were escorted to their train and afterward the meeting broke up. On Wednesday next at noon at the Hotel Eichler the first of the weekly luncheons of the Kingston Rotary will be held. Officers will be elected at this time and a permanent organization effected.

Among the Rotarians present from New York were William J. Gettinger and William J. Beamish, the latter being secretary of the New York Rotary.

In Oklahoma a brother and sister of ten and thirteen years, respectively, got the idea from reading that the district country school ought to have a flag. A mention of the need seemed to call forth little enthusiasm, and so, keeping their purpose secret, they began some red, white and blue material, cut and sewed diligently at spare times, formed a correctly proportioned banner a yard wide and four feet long and, working one night by moonlight until after 12 o'clock, without consent of the directors they cut, trimmed, dangled and planted upright a slender pole nearly thirty feet tall and from it unfurled the flag on a balmy day in the morning wind. The teacher and scholars gathered later and sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the fact-makers received a substantial remuneration as a surprise in turn from the whole community.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Birds in the United States.
There are 500,000,000 birds in the United States, according to an estimate made a little while ago by the government. This means that there are about five birds to every man, woman and child in this wide country. Bird lovers in every part of the United States assisted in taking this count. The census was taken by acres, and the most scientific methods were used. Those districts in which no count was possible were sized up by the results obtained from nearby places where the census had been thoroughly conducted. The final estimate is said to be reasonably near the actual figure.

Romans and the Candle.
According to Plutarch, the ancient Romans would not extinguish a candle, letting it burn out instead. The reason, he states, was that they considered fire an animal, for it needs nourishment, moves itself, grows with added food and when extinguished gives a gasp as if slain. The Romans were opposed to ending the life of so useful a creature. Probably they changed their minds quickly respecting this when a house got afire.

MISS VIRGINIA THAW.
She carries in the pail is unknown, but it is safe to say that it is either sand or water. There are plenty of both at the noted southern winter resort. Here the fashionable folks who do not like the cold breezes of the north spend their time in bathing, fishing, golfing and other warm weather sports. The little girl with the pail is Miss Virginia Thaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw 3d of Pittsburgh.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, March 27.—Mrs. Nellie Whitaker and daughter, Beatrice, of Partition street spent Saturday in Kingston.

Miss Anna Young of Smith College is spending her vacation with her mother on Barclay Heights.

Miss Olive Maxwell, a teacher in the Liberty high school, spent the week end with her parents on John street.

The barn of William Doyle was entered the other night and fourteen brass valves were stolen.

Clyde Van Steenberg of Lafayette street spent the week end in New York city.

Theodore Eckoff, Jr., entertained a number of his little friends at his home on Partition street Saturday afternoon.

W. G. Morgan of this village witnessed the Willard-Moran fight at Madison Square Garden the past week.

Arthur Keener and wife of Tarrytown and Samuel Winchester of Schenectady, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. William Keener, which was held today.

It is rumored that a Kingston firm will open a branch establishment in this village.

A subscription dance will be held in Russell's Hall on Easter Monday night, April 24. Miller's orchestra will furnish the music.

Miss Ann Phelps of Vassar College is visiting her parents on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamb of Market street have returned from a trip to Florida.

Mrs. George Adair of Barclay Heights spent Sunday in Catskill.

The rank of esquire will be conferred on two candidates in North American Lodge, No. 115, K. of P., Tuesday evening.

George Ada Defines Indiana.

In the American Magazine George Ada says:

"Indiana is a composite of steel mills and country clubs, factories and colleges, promoters and professors, stock-breeders and Chautauqua attractions, cornfields and campuses. It grows all the crops and propaganda known to the temperate zone."

"If a high wall could be erected to inclose Indiana the state would continue to operate in all departments, but the outsiders would have to scale the wall in order to get their dialect poetry."

An Artist's Criticism.

Probably no two artists ever criticized each other more severely than did Fuseli and Northcote. Yet they remained fast friends. At one time Fuseli was looking at Northcote's painting of the angel meeting Balaam and his ass. "How did you like it?" asked Northcote after a long silence. "Northcote," replied Fuseli promptly, "you're an angel at an ass, but an ass at an angel."

That Telltale Tea.

"How old is your big sister?" asked a caller of a little girl who was entertaining him in a Washington home until said big sister came in.

"Well," replied the little girl, "I don't know just how old she is, but she has got to be the age when tea tests her."—Saturday Evening Post.

Mother's Care.

"You think that your daughter is too young to marry, madam, but you yourself were married very early."

"That's just it. You see I want to prevent my daughter from being a mother-in-law too young."—Mezzendorfer Blätter.

Men are born to be servicable to one another; therefore reform the world of bear with it.

Port.

Miss Tottie—Auntie, make Johnny quit saying mean things to me. Ann Lottie—Merry child! You're both of you bad children. What's he been saying now? Miss Tottie—He says I've a worse temper'n you have.—Exchange.

Forgetmenot.

A gentleman whose beautiful grounds were often visited by the public had an old gardener who was in the habit of showing parties round the beds. At such times he would in a hurried, gabbling voice explain the names to the visitors.

When hearing the exit gate he would, however, suddenly pause and draw special attention to a pretty cluster of modest posies and then, in a significant tone of voice, exclaim: "These, ladies and gentlemen, are forget me nots."—Chicago News.

Bullfighting.

In tradition the bullfight dates from the time before Hercules is said to have visited Spain and driven off the wonderful cattle of Geryon. In actual recorded history it antedates Caesar's campaign in Hispania, but the fight that is witnessed by the present day visitor in Madrid, Seville or Valencia is far more exciting and cruel than the contests between the noble Spaniard and the noble bull four centuries ago. A first class spectacle now involves the torturing and killing of seven or eight bulls and at least thirty horses.

England's Wettest Harvest.

The year 1852 was the year of the wet harvest in England, the worst ever known. It rained incessantly all September, October and during most of November, and Nov. 29 farmers were cutting barley, a sharp wind from prevailing West was 43 shillings a ton, and so bad was it in quality that dough made from the flour resembled slime. Every Monday morning the overseers and churchwardens met at the parish churches to devise means to provide employment and relieve the starving poor.—London Standard.

Liberal Translations.

At a certain foreign university the students, who had been studying Shakespeare in their native tongue, were requested by an examiner to translate into English the opening lines of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be." The following was the result:

The first Frenchman declaimed, "To was or not to am!" the second rendered it, "To were or is to not," while the third gave a still more liberal rendering, "To should or not to will."—New York Globe.

Our Friends of Fiction.

It is well to realize the influence of one's transient mortal associates by acquiring a peaceful intimacy with those ever living men and women whose deeds, aspirations, love and courage are recorded in books which never against us, who never despise us, nor fail us, nor betray us, being stripped now of that mortal part which renders all men uncertain. It is a habit of hypocrisy, conceits and a sort of human heinousness which life in the flesh never quite escapes. Corra Harris in New York Independent.

RUBE MINSTRELS TO AID BOYS CAMP

The boys' summer camp of the Y. M. C. A. is located on the shores of Lake Anawana, Sullivan county. Here the boys spend a part of their vacation and get close to nature. Many educational features are introduced in camp and this year Red Fox James, the Indian, will be at camp one week and will teach scouting, woodcraft and aquatics. For the purpose of defraying part of the expenses of this camp the Rube Minstrels will be given in the auditorium Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The actors are rehearsing under the direction of Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

The cast of characters follows:
Josh Swallow, C. S. Schoonmaker
Obediah Wayback, Ray Walters
C. D. Doole, "Stub" Glendening
Benjamin Bullett, L. C. Godfrey

Miss Hilda Rifenburg

The girls in the chorus will be the Misses Harriet Welch, Eva Palen, Florence Sinsapough, Katherine Haber, Ethel Knapp and Mrs. A. D. Evey.

The first part of the show will show the interior of a country post-office and the second part the sitting room of the postmaster, where an auction will be held. The village band will also play.

Between the first and second parts a quartet consisting of Franklin Bassett, Harry Weber, H. C. Beckwith and G. D. Beckwith, will sing several selections. Miss Knapp will also sing and Mr. Sunetaro will dance a jig.

Smart Decorations.

Among the decorations which will be used by smart folk this year, and which are very useful when natural flowers cannot be had, are the paper water lilies and cherry blossoms sold in the Japanese shops. These, however, generally go with Japanese crockery and they are most often used at the tea given with the afternoon reception. When real water lilies can be had at the florists, it is not uncommon to drop one or two in the punch bowl, where they look pretty and suitable.

One Eye Waiting.

"Bobby, dear," said his mother, "you must go to bed; it's late." Bobby hopped into bed. Later his mother said: "Bobby, why don't you close your other eye and sleep?" "Well, mother," said Bobby, "this eye is sleeping," pointing to the closed eye, "but the one that's open is waiting for daddy to come home."

LIEUT. OSWALD BOELKE

GERMAN AVIATOR BRINGS DOWN 13 ENEMY FLIERS.

Berlin, March 27.—Lieutenant Oswald Boelke is today acclaimed as a hero because he has brought down his thirteenth enemy aeroplane. The exploit is mentioned in the following official communication:
"Three enemy aeroplanes were put out of action by our aviators in aerial engagements north of Verdun. Two came down behind our front, north-east of Samogneux on the east bank of the Meuse, (north of Douaumont), and the third crashed down in flames behind the enemy's lines.
"Lieutenant Boelke thereby brought down his thirteenth aeroplane, and Lieutenant Parschau his fourth."

More Common Sense Needed.

Before our children draw their first breath we start closing in upon them with every kind of theory. Theories to the right of them, theories to the left of them, they are often victims, as really as were the immortal six hundred, to the fact that "some one has blundered." In taking our children conscientiously, why must we let our idea of duty ride rough-shod over common sense?—From the Atlantic.

True Happiness.

The Child Critics.

Parents are living daily before the most critical audience in the world—their child. The small deceit, the loss of temper—all such things are seen by the small critic, and they all color, in later years, his feeling for his parents.—From the Delineator.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 27.—A delegation from Wawarsing Lodge, No. 582, F. and A. M., met the funeral party of the late Samuel Wallace, who died in Middletown on Thursday, at Phillipsport on the arrival of the train on Sunday at noon, and conducted the services at the grave. Mr. Wallace had been a member of Wawarsing Lodge for thirty-five years.

George Kelp has rented his fine residence on Center street to Mark Horton and family. Mr. and Mrs. Kelp will leave on Saturday next for their new home in Pine Bush, Orange county.

Mrs. Max Lambert entertained a party of friends at her home on Park street one afternoon last week. The sister of Mrs. J. G. Ewing, Miss Dutton, a trained nurse, who has been spending the past two months with Mrs. Ewing, returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Stratton arrived at home in Ellenville on Friday at noon. They report a very pleasant winter spent in Emporium, Pa., and were very much surprised at the great depth of snow which they found on reaching New York state. Their many friends in this place gave them a cordial welcome.

A number of our young people enjoyed a leap year dance at the Wayside Inn on last Friday evening. Music for dancing was furnished by Gray's orchestra.

Mrs. Maynard Osborne of Pine Bush, N. Y., is spending a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kelp.

John A. Smith of Grahamsville was a pleasant visitor in town for a few days last week. In the absence of the pastor of the M. E. Church, at conference on Sunday, the local W. C. T. U. arranged to have the pulpit occupied by Mrs. D. B. Livingstone, a prominent temperance worker, who gave an able talk on temperance, both morning and evening.

Mrs. W. P. Marsh of Ridgefield Park, N. J., arrived at the Mitchell House on Saturday evening, being called here by the serious illness of her mother, I. W. Millard. Mrs. Millard's condition is reported as slightly improved today.

The senior class of the Ellenville high school held a cake sale at the store of George J. Hornbeck on Saturday afternoon, the proceeds from which are to help defray the expenses of a trip to Washington, during Easter week. The Ellenville young people will join the senior class of the Catskill high school, and the whole party will be personally conducted by Superintendent E. C. Hooper of Catskill.

LENTEN BARGAINS.

Woman's Exchange is Showing Unique Goods in its Shop.

The Woman's Exchange at 1 Main street is holding a Lenten bargain sale of fancy goods and canned fruit. The bargain table in the center of the attractive little shop is loaded with things not ordinarily found in the shops, things made at home by Kingston women, which are to be sold at about half the original prices in order to make room for Easter novelties now coming in.

Among the bargains particularly attractive are dinner favors, hand-embroidered petticoats, baby clothes of all kinds, card table covers, boudoir caps, towels, pillow cases all sorts of bags, rag rugs, one stunning old-fashioned hand-pieced quilt, and a breakfast set of Japanese towelings lovely for the summer meal on the porch.

It is impossible to enumerate all the charming things marked down for this sale, but the display is well worth a visit.

Among the new Easter things already in stock are smocks of linen and poplin made according to Vogue patterns, and wonderful knit sweaters in the newest shades.

The Woman's Exchange is conducted by Kingston women for Kingston women, and every woman who buys there is helping some other woman to earn her living.

Mr. O'Neill Buys an Interest.

James A. O'Neill, son of James E. O'Neill of No. 4 Crown street, has purchased a one-third interest in the Modern Lunch Room, 235 Wall street, and will begin to take an active part in the management of the business today. Mr. O'Neill has been for the past three years in the employ of the N. Y. C. R. R. in New York city. He is an enterprising young man and his many friends and acquaintances in Kingston will be pleased to learn of his return. The Modern Lunch Room was formerly conducted by James Ellsworth and Carl Marshall, two hustling young fellows, always striving to serve their patrons to best advantage. With the acquisition of Mr. O'Neill, they will be in a position to improve their service and will be pleased to demonstrate their ability to their present and prospective patrons.

Novelties of the World That Come to New York Through Wanamaker's

So many, many new things to tell about.

First of all, there's a novel blouse idea that has lately come from Paris. It is a slip-over blouse and it really does slip over the head without mussing the hair at all. In flesh pink or white Georgette crepe, with the tiniest frillings, it's the daintiest thing a woman ever wore.

Have you heard that handbags are wearing skirts? It's true. The very latest ones, have one and even two full little skirts, and when they are carried with a be-puffed frock, the effect is charming.

Speaking of be-flounced frocks reminds me of the new silhouette, which of course you know is straight and flat in front and back, and full at the sides.

A very clever tailor has designed an exceedingly smart suit for young girls which has the flattest front and back imaginable, and two extra pieces, sewed on at the sides to give the right hip line. These pieces are faced with white broadcloth, so that just the tiniest line of it shows and gives the suit a bright Spring touch.

They say that sports skirts will be more than ever worn this year, and if they are as pretty as some new ones I saw, it is no wonder. These skirts were of cotton cordeline, not white, but the loveliest canary and rose shades.

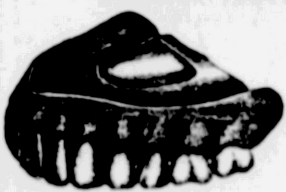

If you wish to make your own sports skirts and want something quite different, try checks instead of stripes. A new linen has been made with big checks in green, canary or mulberry color which is newer than anything I've seen.

Here's an idea! If you haven't a brand new suit for Easter and you want to look

HOLMES DENTAL PARLORS

Tooth Nerves Killed Without Pain. Lady in Attendance.

We apply the golden rule of honesty to every department of this dentistry, and permit no transaction to be closed until the patient is satisfied. We have no quarrel with dentists who charge higher prices for their work—it is worth all they can get if it is GOOD. We simply want to do a greater volume of business at less profit. We practice on ethical lines of honesty and efficiency.

A distinctively smart turban is illustrated in a combination of navy straw and crepe de chene. The manner in which the crepe de chene is arranged in wheel-like folds is particularly interesting. A dashing bird-like wing is perched atop the crown and outlined with coral beads.

PROFESSORS SNOWBALLED.

Rosendale Didn't Approve or Appreciate Their Entertainment.

Rosendale audiences evidently don't care for all branches of hypnotic art for Friday evening at the close of a hypnotic show put on by four men, a number in the audience snowballed the "artists" and they left town. It seems that for several days past four men giving the names of Frank Ruth, C. W. Windsor, Sam Fried and William Holden, were busy in the village soliciting subscriptions to a paper called "The Rural Weekly," and collected any amount from ten cents to a dollar. They also gave lead pencils to subscribers. While in Rosendale they hypnotized a man and had him exhibited in the window of the post-office. There was some complications about that, too. Friday night they staged an exhibition in St. Peter's Hall, which the audience failed to approve and Deputy Sheriff Jacob Huben was called to preserve order. Mr. Huben afterward said there was no necessity for calling on him. After the performance the professors were snowballed and left town. Nobody made any complaints against them and no legal action has been taken.

Much Work for Circles of Mercy.

At both the Thursday morning and Friday afternoon meetings held at the Y. M. C. A. to make the surgical dressings, under the supervision of the Circles of Mercy, much work was accomplished by the various workers. On Saturday morning the following boys of the Boy Scout Troops helped to pick oakum: Troop 1—Arthur Thompson, Thomas Rowland, George Allen, Richard Gruver, Bert Margolis, Charles Prescott, Percy Jones, James Forman, Harry Schryver, Paul Nelson, George MacHeldt; Troop 2—James Hillis, Ralph Rector, Christopher Messinger, Harold Lebertson, Orville Giles, Harold Morgan, Fred Port, Earl Strenge; Troop 3—William Paulus, Fred Sahloff, James Hicks. Christopher Messinger acted as captain for the week. In spite of all these helpers, more help is needed for this work.

Two Good Sermons.

Rev. Herbert Hazard of Warwick, N. Y., formerly of Kingston, preached both the morning and evening sermons at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church Sunday to large audiences. Rev. Hazard is visiting a few days with his parents on Clinton avenue.

Fizzle.

"What is it a sign of when one's lips itch?" asked the dear girl in the parlor scene as she lowered the blinds and seated her person on the end of a sofa built for two. "I don't know, I'm sure," replied the dense young man, as he folded his arms and tried to look wise. "but I presume it indicates some sort of a cutaneous trouble."—Indianapolis Star.

Reasonable Explanation.

Perhaps the idea that two can live as cheaply as one originated in the mind of a young fellow who boarded with his father-in-law.

BUSINESS MEN VISIT HIGH SCHOOL

Chamber of Commerce Directors, as Guests of President Bernstein of the Board of Education, Spend a Profitable Day.

Chamber of Commerce directors and business men received a liberal education in the work of the high school at the morning sessions today when they were the guests of President Sam Bernstein of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Michael. The delegation numbered 15 and every part of the building was visited, the visitors being given an opportunity to view every phase of school work without the slightest interruption to the normal routine.

There was nothing of the 10 o'clock scholar about any of the directors who were on hand promptly at 8:45 o'clock. In order to thoroughly ground them for the inspection, the members of the party were escorted to the basement by President Bernstein and Superintendent Michael. Here the physical properties of the building were gone into thoroughly, the ventilating and heating systems being given a thorough demonstration. The gymnasium, the steel locker rooms and other equipments of which proved most interesting, was next visited and then began a tour of the class rooms. Recitations in almost every subject taught in the high school received the consideration of the visitors.

Most interest was exhibited in the new departments such as domestic science where the instruction in cooking and dress-making was gone over as though the visitors were familiar with every detail as it was explained. Vocational training found them interested spectators. This covers woodworking, printing, and machine construction. A class of boys at work on signs for the Automobile Show elicited favorable comment. The laboratory apparatus and the commercial department with its bookkeeping and stenographic courses came in for close scrutiny.

Through it all there was no deviation from the usual daily work save for the luncheon served the visitors at noon when cocoa was substituted for cocoa on the menu. Soup, a meat course, with potatoes and other vegetables, made up the luncheon which was considered a marvel for 15 cents.

No small impression was made upon the business men by their trip as was made apparent in the exchange of views which followed in Superintendent Michael's office after luncheon. President Bernstein was greatly pleased at the expressions from his colleagues in the Chamber of Commerce and the success which greeted his suggestion for the visit which is an innovation in school work. An invitation was given the directors to witness work in the grade schools.

Among those present beside Mr. Bernstein were: President R. E. Leighton, John B. Kearney, John E. Mahar, A. E. Dederick, V. A. Gorman, Jay Terry, Abram Freeman, Charles A. Warren, L. F. Bannon, E. T. Steller, Rufus Kelder, E. F. MacFadden, J. E. Klock, Secretary James E. Canfield.

Dance at Eddyville.

The Rosendale Social Club will hold a dance at McNamee's Hall, Eddyville, on Wednesday evening.

Eyes in a Portrait.

If a person's picture is taken with the eyes of the person looking directly into the lens or opening of the camera then the eyes in the picture will always be directly on and appear to follow whoever is looking at it. This is also true of paintings. If a subject being painted is posed so as to look directly at the painter and the artist paints the picture with the eyes so pointed then the eyes of the picture will follow you. When you are looking at a picture of a person and the eyes do not follow you you will know at once that he was not looking at the camera or artist when the picture was being taken or painted.

Light From Broken Crystals.

It has been noticed that a soft bluish light has occasionally been seen when a scoop was scraped across solidly caked sugar in the bin. Loose sugar does not show this glow, nor does granulated. The cause of the peculiar light is in the fracturing of the sugar crystals. Luminescence of this type accompanies the breaking of crystals of a number of different substances, but in none is more pronounced than in rock candy. To get the best effect place lumps of rock candy between the jaws of nutcrackers or forceps and suddenly crush the crystal to fragments. If the room has previously been darkened the flash of light may be seen at a distance of twenty yards.

Knew What Was Coming.

Willis—They say Dr. Rump is very quick to send a bill.

Gillis—Quick! He is premature. I happened to mention to him this morning that I am going to a bachelor supper tonight.

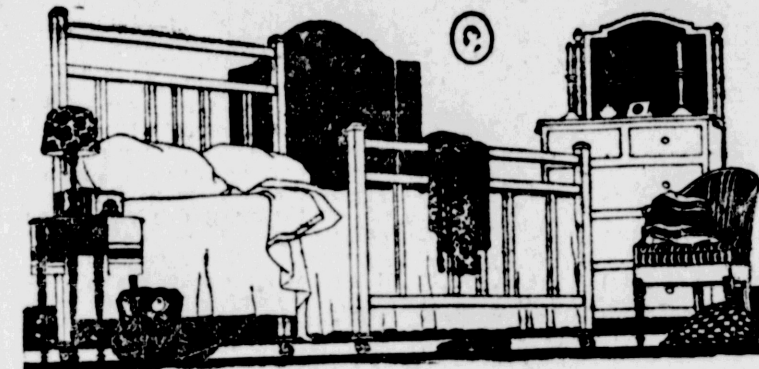

Willis—Yes!

Gillis—And this afternoon I received a bill for tomorrow morning's services.—Judge.

Incredible.

"I was talking with Professor Honza last night. You know he's just back from an exploring expedition to central Africa."

Persian Shawls.

The "shawl" of Kerman—whence our word "shawl"—is made of goats' hair. Like the carpets, the shawl patterns are learned by heart, and the work is even finer. Children also do this work. The finest product is a fine cone pattern, a rich color effect, made especially for the governor of the province, who wears it as a robe of honor on the Persian New Year's day.

ROTARIANS VISIT NEW KINGSTON CLUB

The Rotary Club whirled into its Kingston orbit Saturday night with a speed and an enthusiasm that surpassed the most sanguine expectations and for five hours the Hotel Eichler, where the inaugural was staged, was the scene of a most festive session in which thirty Rotarians from Albany and New York participated with thirty-one members from this city. Rotary is unique in the fact that it has no crips or pass words and the work is as open as the day. With one representative of every business and profession in the city in its membership, Rotary furnishes a sort of clearing house for the exchange of ideas and broadens the business viewpoint of every member in a way possible through no other medium in modern life.

All these and other advantages were pointed out by the visitors who were tendered an informal reception at the hotel following their arrival and at the dinner which followed there was singing throughout, with speeches by way of conclusion. The Rotary song book from Albany was in evidence together with enough tracts for foreign as well as domestic missionary work.

President George D. Elwell of the Albany Rotary sang "The Close of a Perfect Day" while the Rev. George Dugan gave "Where the River Shannon Flows." President Elwell also acted as toastmaster and at the outset delivered a ringing endorsement of Rotary and Rotary principles based on his personal experience. As a testimony meeting, the gathering was an assured success and "pep" plus marked the oratory and its reception by the audience.

William J. Gettinger, international vice-president, was the first speaker and proved a live wire whose mental sparks made a quick contact with his hearers. He brought greetings from President Allen R. Albert of the International Association of Rotary Clubs and the 22,000 business men who make up the order in the United States, Canada, England and Ireland.

Rotary represented more to him, said the speaker, than any of the clubs and lodges to which he belonged. He explained the various objects including the one "to promote the sanitizing of acquaintances" and said that Rotary in its best sense presented the opportunity of service and a means to success in life.

"Your organization is going to do a lot of good in Kingston," he declared. "don't try to take the place of the Chamber of Commerce or any other body, be an errand boy for the Chamber of Commerce and co-operate with every organization in their efforts for the good of the city. Rotary is the only organization where men of every nation and creed can meet on one clean, common level and the unique thing that holds its together is the fact that there is only one member from each separate business classification." The speaker urged the new members to embrace the opportunities offered by Rotary to learn something of the other fellow's business so that local problems could be judged intelligently as a result. He advised them to read the code of ethics of the club and the reasons for being a Rotarian issued in pamphlet form. The speaker also declared that any man who entered Rotary for the sole idea of profit was in the wrong organization and made plain that the idea of a close corporation for commercial purposes was far from being any part of the club's existence. He referred to the broadening influence of Rotary in the field of business and pleasure and declared it "opens the door to read brotherhood in the exchange of frank, open discussion of the world's work."

Mr. Gettinger pointed out the educational advantages of Rotary and said that each man broadens his own vision of paying heed to his neighbor's experiences.

"Deep in each man's heart," he said, "is a craving for intimate association with his fellow men, but often lack of time prevents his breaking through the conventional wall that opposes him. Rotary breaks this wall for him and draws him easily and naturally into the circle of friendship. His association gives him a status that a lifetime would hardly bring about, and thus multiplies his advantages a hundred fold."

Secretary DeRouville of the Albany Club followed with a brief speech of welcome and Secretary Beamish of the New York Rotary extended a cordial invitation to the Kingston branch to visit the New York headquarters when in that city.

The Rev. Dr. Dugan emphasized the most important note in Rotary as being service to one's fellow men. Inspiration and opportunity for such service, he declared, was presented to business men by Rotary and his eloquent endorsement of the club and its objects proved one of the gems of the evening.

John T. D. Blackburn, who said he had been in the smoke of battle on the Mexican border with Major Chandler during dinner, expressed his enjoyment of the Kingston brand of hospitality and spoke briefly on the Rotary text. "He profits best who serves most." He gave Godspeed to the new branch.

Willis Hills made a graceful little speech of acknowledgement in behalf of the local Rotarians and told of the impressions he had gained from his not infrequent visits to sessions of the Albany Rotary. He also praised the spirit of Rotary which had prompted the visiting delegations to lend their presence in the mission field down the Hudson Valley.

That the Rotary Club is something needed in Kingston life today was the point made by A. D. Pardee, who spoke briefly on the Rotary principles. The field which the new organization invades, he declared, is not covered by the Chamber of Commerce nor by any fraternities. That Kingston will profit from the activities of the Rotary and the members make it a real working force in the community was his prophecy in conclusion.

Mayor Canfield was the last speaker and went back to the Greek philosopher who held many friends because he "expected nothing from 'em," as the spirit of Rotarians who should expect nothing from the order but give their best to it. He spoke enthusiastically of Rotary and expressed the hope that the visiting delegations some day would return for the hearty welcome that the then full-fledged Kingston organization would have in store for them.

The train for Albany pulling in at this time was all that prevented an encore for "Auld Lang Syne" which was sung with everyone standing and so closed one of the fingeriest sessions that any new organization has pulled off in Kingston in many a day.

The visitors were escorted to their train and afterward the meeting broke up. On Wednesday next at noon at the Hotel Eichler the first of the weekly luncheons of the Kingston Rotary will be held. Officers will be elected at this time and a permanent organization effected.

Among the Rotarians present from New York were William J. Gettinger and William J. Beamish, the latter being secretary of the New York Rotary.

New York, March 27.—Cornellians fear that Charles Courtney, "the wizard of the water," never again will be able to take full coaching charge of the Red and White crews. Just now it seems doubtful if he can assume an advisory position, owing to his feeble condition.

The veteran has not recovered from the accident suffered last June when his skull was fractured in a Pullman car, due to the jolting of the train while he was asleep. For a long time after he was taken back to Ithaca he was in the hospital and all through the winter the hoped for improvement in his condition has not come.

Courtney is well along in the sixties and this added to his illness makes it seem impossible for him to throw himself into the strenuous coaching job as he did in other years. Only twice since last summer has he been able to go from his home to the Cornell boat house nearby and both trips exhausted him.

Hoyle His Successor.

Johnny Hoyle, who has been Courtney's lieutenant for many years, undoubtedly will be the active coach of the Cornell crews this year. He has been understudying Courtney for something like 17 years and his methods are akin to those of the veteran. But Hoyle lacks the uncanny skill of Courtney in perfectly balancing a boat and getting from its oarsmen the maximum power. Hoyle's success has been due to his instinctive knowledge of boat balancing. Time and again he has shifted his oarsmen, making changes that others thought would put the shell out of harmony. But Courtney's shifts always resulted in adding greater speed to the craft.

"If Courtney cannot act as the regular coach for us this spring it will be a terrible blow at our chances in the Poughkeepsie race," said a Cornellian. "However, the impact will be lessened somewhat if he can serve us in an advisory capacity. Hoyle can do the regular coaching, but we must have Courtney to supervise the placing of the men and the balancing of the shell."

Batters! Read—And Heed.

Bobby Waugh, of Fort Worth, busted a referee on the brazier the other night and right away quick the official changed his decision, which had been against Waugh.

The Fort Worth batter met Benny Cordova, of Galveston, in a 10 round affair in Galveston. At the conclusion of the milling, Referee Torrence promptly awarded the fight to Cordova, whereupon, the enraged Waugh leaped in the general direction of Torrence and heaved a wallop at him.

Did Torrence strike back? Did he invoke the aid of the guardians of the law? Nay, nay. Torrence dodged the next swing of Waugh's and rushed to the center of the ring, loudly proclaiming that he had made a mistake in awarding the fight to Cordova and that he had changed his decision.

"I now call the fight a draw," he announced. And then he beat it.

Demon Clouter Is He.

The astonishing total of 34 home runs in 128 games was compiled last season by Outfielder Besse, of the McAlester team in the Western Association. Some folks claim that his achievement probably is due to the fact that there are some short fences in the circuit, but the records of the players in that league do not compare with Besse's in the circuit clout line. If Besse was aided by short fences, why weren't the others? The answer seems to be that this Besse is a slugger far beyond the average.

Besse made only 121 hits during the season, for an average of .281, but the remarkable feature about his record is that more than half of his safeties were extra-basers. In addition to 34 homers, he poked out 6 triples and 24 two baggers—a total of 64 extra base hits—against 57 singles.

Deciding Game This Evening.

The deciding game of the Wood-Webster bowling series will be staged tonight at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. To date the Webster team have won five of the nine games and if they win tonight's encounter the bacon for the series will be theirs. Wood's followers, however, are certain that there can be only one outcome tonight—a victory for them. If such be the case another game will have to be bowled. These matches are keenly contested and are the center of interest of all local bowlers because of the calibre of the men on the teams.

New Pilot Engaged.

Burton Briggs, of Cossackie, has secured a berth with the Saugerties & New York Steamboat Co. as pilot aboard the steamer Ulster. Mr. Briggs, who is a brother of Henry Briggs, a former pilot on the Saugerties boats, has been employed aboard the Hudson Navigation Co. line boats the past few years.

WILLARD NOW A REAL CHAMPION

New York, March 27.—Jesse Willard today remains as supreme ruler in the world of pugilism. His wonderful physical powers, added to his recently acquired cleverness, make it seem practically certain that he will reign for years to come; will retain the crown until beaten either by old age or a foe more powerful and huger.

Those who scoffed Willard in the past are silent now. The showing of the giant Kansan on Saturday night against Frank Moran has convinced the skeptics that he is the peer of every ring warrior; that none can compare with him; that he is a champion in every sense of the word.

Willard met the best man in the ranks of the challengers when he encountered Moran—and he beat the Pittsburgher decisively. There is no room for argument as to the result of that bout. The champion beat his rival in every department. He took everything Moran had to give—and kept coming for more. He stood up under the battering of Moran's terrific right—and smiled when most of his swings landed.

Whether Willard would have been able to put down Moran for the count had he not been handicapped from the third round on with a broken finger in his right hand, is a question. If the right had not been injured Willard might have scored a knockout—and he might not—because Moran showed that he was able to take far more punishment than Willard doled out.

Willard's showing in his Moran fight was far superior to that in his 26 round battle against Jack Johnson. He fought with greater confidence and more aggressiveness. He was faster, headier and displayed cleverness far beyond that which he exhibited in Cuba. And from the third round on he fought a fast and furious fight. Moran today is asking for another chance at the champion, over a decision route. Whether he could win is doubtful. The Pittsburgher probably could beat a man at his weight—202 pounds—but he does not seem good enough to "spot" Willard almost 60 pounds and win.

There is glory for Moran even in his defeat. The way he stood up under the Willard bombardment was marvelous. In only two rounds and he fell as the offensive fighter. He showed but little ring sense. He threw his skill to the winds and willingly took punches in his eagerness to land his powerful right.

Time and again Moran swung that blow to Willard's jaw and body, but without result. The punches had enough power to floor any ordinary man—but Willard, in his ability to assimilate punishment, showed himself the superman. He took everything that Moran had to give—and kept coming. The smaller man almost wore out himself battering the champion—and he failed to floor him.

Willard's great height and reach handicapped Moran. Often the Pittsburgher swung a right for the head but it fell short. Oftener Willard's long reach enabled him to hold off Moran after the challenger had set himself for a terrific punch. And when Moran landed to the head his blows didn't have force behind them because the power of the drive was lost in the long overhead swing.

The fight satisfied the fans. It really was a slam bang affair. Round after round the men stood toe to toe and slugged. Rarely was there a round when one didn't drive the other to the ropes with a fusillade of blows.

The most sensational round was the seventh. When the bell called the men into action in the seventh, Willard rushed from his corner and met Moran with a stinging uppercut. He followed it with two more and Moran covered. Then Willard began beating Moran's head with right and left smashes and had delivered at least fifteen blows, with Moran backed against the ropes, before the Pittsburgher tried to wiggle away.

As Moran worked his way into the center of the ring, he seemed a pitiable sight. His knees seemed to double under him and he staggered. Willard saw this and like lightning flashed terrific right and left to the head and body. It looked like a knockout for Willard when, suddenly Moran straightened up, shot a left to Willard's body and then, while Willard was trying to recover from his amazement, Moran delivered the most crushing blow of the fight. It was his famous right and it crashed against Willard's jaw. The champion seemed dazed and backed to the ropes, covering. Like a madman Moran rushed at him and banged Willard's head and body with everything he had. While the moran crowd was shrieking in frenzy for Moran to "kill him" the bell ended the battering.

Yes, it was a real fight, with Moran displaying wonderful gameness and punching power. But he went against a better man—the greatest in the ring today—and he was beaten.

Miller A. C. Reorganized.

At a meeting of the Miller A. C. baseball team, held at the home of Silas Soper on Brewster street on Sunday afternoon, the team was reorganized for the coming season. Election was held and those elected were Leo E. Weber, manager, and treasurer, Edward Butler. Those who will compose the team are George Moxham, left field; James Kiernan, center field; John Neuman, right field; George Roene, third base; Silas Soper, short stop and pitcher; John Joyce, second base; Edward Butler, first base; H. Robertson, short stop and pitcher; Charles Mains, catcher. This is a very strong lineup and the team expects to do some good playing the coming season. Games will be booked with some fast teams throughout the city and county. After the meeting refreshments were served and a most enjoyable hour was spent. Teams desiring games can do so by writing to Leo E. Weber, Box 28, Rondout Station, Rondout, N. Y.

Upon investigation he discovered a fox asleep. As he approached it, the fox started to run but Barnum struck it with his whip, killing it. John is now eligible to the Catskill Mt. Sportsmen's Club.

RUBE MINSTRELS TO AID BOYS CAMP

The boys' summer camp of the Y. M. C. A. is located on the shores of Lake Anawan, Sullivan county. Here the boys spend a part of their vacation and get close to nature. Many educational features are introduced in camp and this year Red Fox James, the Indian, will be at camp one week and will teach scouting, woodcraft and aquatics. For the purpose of defraying part of the expenses of this camp the Rube Minstrels will give a performance on Tuesday evening at 8.15 o'clock. The actors are rehearsing under the direction of Miss Ethel Matherstock.

The cast of characters follows:
Josh Swallow, C. S. Schomaker, Obadiah Wayback, Ray Walters, C. D. Doolee, "Stub" Glendon, Benjamin Bullett, L. C. Godfrey, Deacon Skinner, Frank McConnell, Sly Verne, Ben Rhymor, Rose Higginson.

Miss Hilda Rifenbary, Hosea How, Harry D. Eddy. The girls in the chorus will be the Misses Harriet Welch, Eva Palen, Florence Simpson, Katherine Haber, Ethel Knapp and Mrs. A. D. Eddy.

The first part of the show will show the interior of a country post office and the second part the sitting room of the postmaster, where an auction will be held. The village band will also play. Between the first and second parts a quartet consisting of Franklin Bassett, Harry Wagon, H. C. Beckwith and G. D. Beckwith, will sing a vocal selection. Mr. Knapp will also sing and Mr. Smetaro will dance a jig.

Smart Decorations.
Among the decorations which will be used by smart folk this year, and which are very useful when natural flowers cannot be had, are the paper water lilies and cherry boughs sold in the Japanese shops. These, however, generally go with Japanese crockery and they are most often used at the tea given with the afternoon reception. When real water lilies can be had at the florist's, it is not uncommon to drop one or two in the punch bowl, where they look pretty and suitable.

One Eye Waiting.
"Bobby, dear," said his mother, "you must go to bed; it's late." Bobby hopped into bed. Later his mother said: "Bobby, why don't you close your other eye and sleep?" "Well, mother," said Bobby, "this eye is sleeping," pointing to the closed eye, "but the one that's open is waiting for daddy to come home."

More Common Sense Needed.

Before our children draw their first breath we start closing in upon them with every kind of theory. Theories to the right of them, theories to the left of them, they are often victims, as really as were the immortal six hundred, to the fact that "some one has blundered." In taking our children conscientiously, why must we let our idea of duty ride rough-shod over common sense?—From the Atlantic.

True Happiness.

The Child Critics.

Parents are living daily before the most critical audience in the world—their child. The small deceit, the loss of temper—all such things are seen by the small critic, and they all color, in later years, his feeling for his parents.—From the Delineator.

Mrs. Max Lambert entertained a party of friends at her home on Park street one afternoon last week. The sister of Mrs. J. G. Ewing, Miss Dutton, a trained nurse, who has been spending the past two months with Mrs. Ewing, returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Stratton arrived at home in Ellenville on Friday at noon. They report a very pleasant winter spent in Emporium, Pa., and were very much surprised at the great depth of snow which they found on reaching New York state. Their many friends in this place gave them a cordial welcome.

A number of our young people enjoyed a leap year dance at the Wayside Inn on last Friday evening. Music for dancing was furnished by Gray's orchestra.

Mrs. Maynard Osborne of Pine Bush, N. Y., is spending a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kelp.

John A. Smith of Grahamsville was a pleasant visitor in town for a few days last week. In the absence of the pastor of the M. E. Church, at conference on Sunday, the local W. C. T. U. arranged to have the pulpit occupied by Mrs. D. B. Livingstone, a prominent temperance worker, who gave an able talk on temperance, both morning and evening.

Mrs. W. P. Marsh of Ridgefield Park, N. J., arrived at the Mitchell House on Saturday evening, being called here by the serious illness of her mother, I. W. Millard. Mrs. Millard's condition is reported as slightly improved today.

The senior class of the Ellenville high school held a cake sale at the store of George J. Hornbeck on Saturday afternoon, the proceeds from which are to help defray the expenses of a trip to Washington, during Easter week. The Ellenville young people will join the senior class of the Catskill high school, and the whole party will be personally conducted by Superintendent E. C. Hoerner of Catskill.

LENTEN BARGAINS.

Women's Exchange is Showing Unique Goods in its Shop.

The Woman's Exchange at 1 Main street is holding a Lenten bargain sale of fancy goods and canned fruit. The bargain table in the center of the attractive little shop is loaded with things not ordinarily found in the shops, things made at home by Kingston women, which are to be sold at about half the original prices in order to make room for Easter novelties now coming in.

Among the bargains particularly attractive are dinner favors, hand-embroidered petticoats, baby clothes of all kinds, card table covers, boudoir caps, towels, pillow cases all sorts of bags, rag rugs, one stunning old-fashioned hand-pieced quilt and a breakfast set of Japanese towelings lovely for the summer meal on the porch.

It is impossible to enumerate all the charming things marked down for this sale, but the display is well worth a visit.

Among the new Easter things already in stock are smocks of linen and poplin made according to Vogue patterns, and wonderful knit sweaters in the newest shades. The Woman's Exchange is conducted by Kingston women for Kingston women, and every woman who buys there is helping some other woman to earn her living.

Mr. O'Neill Buys an Interest.

James A. O'Neill, son of James E. O'Neill of No. 4 Crown street, has purchased a one-third interest in the Modern Lunch Room, 295 Wall street, and will begin to take an active part in the management of the business today. Mr. O'Neill has been for the past three years in the employ of the N. Y. C. R. R. in New York city. He is an enterprising young man and his many friends and acquaintances in Kingston will be pleased to learn of his return. The Modern Lunch Room was formerly conducted by James Ellsworth and Carl Marshall, two hustling young fellows, always striving to serve their patrons to best advantage. With the acquisition of Mr. O'Neill, they will be in a position to improve their service and will be pleased to demonstrate their ability to their present and prospective patrons.

Novelties of the World That Come to New York Through Wanamaker's

So many, many new things to tell about.

First of all, there's a novel blouse idea that has lately come from Paris. It is a slip-over blouse and it really does slip over the head without mussing the hair at all. In flesh pink or white Georgette crepe, with the tiniest frillings, it's the daintiest thing a woman ever wore.

Have you heard that handbags are wearing skirts? It's true. The very latest ones have one and even two full little skirts, and when they are carried with a be-puffed frock, the effect is charming.

Speaking of be-flounced frocks reminds me of the new silhouette, which of course you know is straight and flat in front and back, and full at the sides.

A very clever tailor has designed an exceedingly smart suit for young girls which has the flattest front and back imaginable, and two extra pieces, sewed on at the sides to give the right hip line. These pieces are faced with white broadcloth, so that just the tiniest line of it shows and gives the suit a bright Spring touch.

They say that sports skirts will be more than ever worn this year, and if they are as pretty as some new ones I saw, it is no wonder. These skirts were of cotton cordeline, not white, but the loveliest canary and rose shades.

If you wish to make your own sports skirts and want something quite different, try checks instead of stripes. A new linen has been made with big checks in green, canary or mulberry color which is newer than anything I've seen.

Here's an idea! If you haven't a brand new suit for Easter and you want to look all new and Easter-like, get some little collars and cuffs of French blue, orchid, tan or flesh pink lawn and baste them on the old suit. It will look like new and have a Paris air about it, for these colored collar and cuffs sets are a fad that has come straight from Paris.

Are you going to wear one of the new large sailors? If you are, behold the veil to wear with it. Circular in shape, so that it may be thrown right over the hat and having row after row of chenille dots.

Isn't it too tragic that most shoes are cut so low in front that the spat usually pulls up and shows a bit of the stocking. I've discovered, however, a pump, the Spat-Pump, which has been specially made with an extra high piece in the front so that spat fits it perfectly.

If any woman wants a coat that would be altogether different, she might get one of new Paris belts that have just landed. They are gray, tan, mauve, or a kind of coral tan and they are made of antelope, which is soft and suede-like, or seal.

Do you know what culotte negligees are? Imagine a pillow slip with holes cut through for your feet and you have the general idea of them. There's one I saw, a Paris model, and its copy isn't expensive, in palest flesh pink with all sorts of little frillings and quillings to make it dainty, and an orchid satin belt, into which was tucked a cluster of roses. Very modest looking, and oh, so comfortable.

More next week.

The Wanamaker Store will come to you over the Mail Order Bridge, if you cannot come to the Store. Spring and Summer catalog will be mailed free for the asking.

TREATMENT THAT SATISFIES

We apply the golden rule of honesty to every department of this dentistry, and permit no transaction to be closed until the patient is satisfied. We have no quarrel with dentists who charge higher prices for their work—it is worth all they can get if it is GOOD. We simply want to do a greater volume of business at less profit. We practice on ethical lines of honesty and efficiency.

HOLMES DENTAL PARLORS
Teeth Nerves Killed Without Pain.

R. P. RAYLOR, Manager
318 Wall St., Kingston
Lady in Attendance.

(By La Raconteuse.)

PROFESSORS SNOWBALLED.

Rosendale Didn't Approve or Appreciate Their Entertainment.
Rosendale audiences evidently don't care for all branches of hypnotic art for Friday evening at the close of a hypnotic show put on by four men, a number in the audience snowballed the "artists" and they left town. It seems that for several days past four men giving the names of Frank Ruth, C. W. Windsor, Sam Fried and William Holden, were busy in the village soliciting subscriptions to a paper called "The Rural Weekly," and collected any amount from ten cents to a dollar. They also gave lead pencils to subscribers. While in Rosendale they hypnotized a man and had him exhibited in the window of the post-office. There was some complication about that, too. Friday night they staged an exhibition in St. Peter's Hall, which the audience failed to approve and Deputy Sheriff Jacob Huben was called to preserve order. Mr. Huben afterward said there was no necessity for calling on him. After the performance the professors were snowballed and left town. Nobody made any complaints against them and no legal action has been taken.

Much Work for Circles of Mercy.

At both the Thursday morning and Friday afternoon meetings held at the Y. M. C. A. to make the surgical dressings, under the supervision of the Circles of Mercy, much work was accomplished by the various workers. On Saturday morning the following boys of the Boy Scout Troops helped to pick oakum. Troop 1—Arthur Thompson, Thomas Rowland, George Allen, Richard Gruver, Bert Margolis, Charles Prescott, Percy Jones, James Forman, Harry Schryver, Paul Nelson, George Macdonald; Troop 2—James Hills, Ralph Rector, Christopher Messinger, Harold Lebertson, Orville Giles, Harold Morgan, Fred Port, Earl Strenge; Troop 3—William Paulus, Fred Schloff, James Hicks. Christopher Messinger acted as captain for the week. In spite of all these helpers, more help is needed for this week.

Two Good Sermons.

Rev. Herbert Hazard of Warwick, N. Y., formerly of Kingston, preached both the morning and evening sermons at the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church Sunday to large audiences. Rev. Hazard is visiting a few days with his parents on Clinton avenue.

Fizzle.

"What is it a sign of when one's lips titch?" asked the dear girl in the parlor scene as she lowered the blinds and seated her person on the end of a sofa built for two. "I don't know, I'm sure," replied the dense young man, as he folded his arms and tried to look wise. "but I presume it indicates some sort of a cutaneous trouble."—Indianapolis Star.

Reasonable Explanation.

Perhaps the idea that two can live as cheaply as one originated in the mind of a young fellow who boarded with his father-in-law.

BUSINESS MEN VISIT HIGH SCHOOL

Chamber of Commerce Directors, as Guests of President Bernstein of the Board of Education. Spend a Profitable Day.

Chamber of Commerce directors and business men received a liberal education in the work of the high school at the morning sessions today when they were the guests of President Sam Bernstein of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools Michael. The delegation numbered 15 and every part of the building was visited, the visitors being given an opportunity to view every phase of school work without the slightest interruption to the normal routine.

There was nothing of the 10 o'clock scholar about any of the directors who were on hand promptly at 8.45 o'clock. In order to thoroughly ground them for the inspection, the members of the party were escorted to the basement by President Bernstein and Superintendent Michael. Here the physical properties of the building were gone into thoroughly, the ventilating and heating systems being given a thorough demonstration. The gymnasium, the steel locker rooms and other equipments of which proved most interesting, was next visited and then began a tour of the class rooms. Recitations in almost every subject taught in the high school received the consideration of the visitors.

Most interest was exhibited in the new laboratories such as domestic science where the instruction in cooking and dress-making was gone over as though the visitors were familiar with every detail as it was explained. Vocational training found them interested spectators. This covers woodworking, printing and machine construction. A class of boys at work on signs for the Automobile Show elicited favorable comment. The laboratory apparatus and the commercial department with its bookkeeping and stenographic courses came in for close scrutiny.

Through it all there was no deviation from the usual daily work save for the luncheon served the visitors at noon when coffee was substituted for cocoa on the menu. Soup, a meat course, with potatoes and other vegetables, made up the luncheon which was considered a marvel for 15 cents.

No small impression was made upon the business men by their trip as was made apparent in the exchange of views which followed in Superintendent Michael's office after luncheon. President Bernstein was greatly pleased at the expressions from his colleagues in the Chamber of Commerce and the success which greeted his suggestion for the visit which is an innovation in school work. An invitation was given the directors to witness work in the grade schools.

Among those present beside Mr. Bernstein were: President, R. E. Leighton, John B. Kearney, John E. Mahar, A. E. Dederick, V. A. Gorman, Jay Terry, Abram Freeman, Charles A. Warren, L. F. Bannan, E. T. Stelle, Rufus Kelder, E. F. MacFadden, J. E. Klock, Secretary James E. Canfield.

Dance at Eddyville.

Eyes in a Portrait.

If a person's picture is taken with the eyes of the person looking directly into the lens or opening of the camera then the eyes in the picture will always be directly on and appear to follow whoever is looking at it. This is also true of paintings. If a subject being painted is posed so as to look directly at the painter and the artist paints the picture with the eyes so pointed then the eyes of the picture will follow you. When you are looking at a picture of a person and the eyes do not follow you you will know at once that he was not looking at the camera or artist when the picture was being taken or painted.

Light From Broken Crystals.

It has been noticed that a soft bluish light has occasionally been seen when a scoop was scraped across solidly caked sugar in the bin. Loose sugar does not show this glow, nor does granulated. The cause of the peculiar light is in the fracturing of the sugar crystals. Luminescence of this type accompanies the breaking of crystals of a number of different substances, but in none is more pronounced than in rock candy. To get the best effect place lumps of rock candy between the jaws of nutcrackers or forceps and suddenly crush the crystal to fragments. If the room has previously been darkened the flash of light may be seen at a distance of twenty yards.

Knew What Was Coming.

Willie—They say Dr. Bump is very quick to send a bill.
Gills—Quick! He is premature. I happened to mention to him this morning that I am going to a bachelor supper tonight.
Willie—And?
Gills—Yes? This afternoon I received a bill for tomorrow morning's services.—Judge.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

New York, March 27.—Cornellians fear that Charles Courtney, "the wizard of the water," never again will be able to take full coaching charge of the Red and White crews. Just now it seems doubtful if he can assume an advisory position, owing to his feeble condition.

The veteran has not recovered from the accident suffered last June when his skull was fractured in a Pullman car, due to the jolting of the train while he was asleep. For a long time after he was taken back to Ithaca he was in the hospital and all through the winter the hoped for improvement in his condition has not come.

Courtney is well along in the sixties and this added to his illness makes it seem impossible for him to throw himself into the strenuous coaching job as he did in other years. Only twice since last summer has he been able to go from his home to the Cornell boat house nearby and both trips exhausted him.

Hoyle His Successor.

Johnny Hoyle, who has been Courtney's lieutenant for many years, undoubtedly will be the active coach of the Cornell crews this year. He has been understanding Courtney for something like 17 years and his methods are akin to those of the veteran. But Hoyle lacks the uncanny skill of Courtney in perfectly balancing a boat and getting from its oarsmen the maximum power.

Courtney's success has been due to his instinctive knowledge of boat balancing. Time and again he has shifted his oarsmen, making changes that others thought would put the shell out of harmony. But Courtney's shifts always resulted in adding greater speed to the craft.

"If Courtney cannot act as the regular coach for us this spring it will be a terrible blow at our chances in the Poughkeepsie race," said a Cornellian. "However, the impact will be lessened somewhat if he can serve us in an advisory capacity. Hoyle can do the regular coaching, but we must have Courtney to supervise the placing of the men and the balancing of the shell."

Battlers! Read—And Heed.

Bobby Waugh, of Fort Worth, hustled a referee on the boxer the other night and right away quick the official changed his decision, which had been against Waugh.

The Fort Worth battler met Benny Cordova, of Galveston, in a 16 round affair in Galveston. At the conclusion of the milling, Referee Torrence promptly awarded the fight to Cordova whereupon, the enraged Waugh leaped in the general direction of Torrence and heaved a wallop at him.

Did Torrence strike back? Did he invoke the aid of the guardians of the law? Nay, nay. Torrence dodged the next swing of Waugh's arm and running to the center of the ring, loudly proclaimed that he had made a mistake in awarding the fight to Cordova and that he had changed his decision.

"I now call the fight a draw," he announced. And then he beat it.

Demon Clouter Is He.

The astonishing total of 34 home runs in 123 games was compiled last season by Outfielder Besse, of the McAllester team in the Western Association. Some folks claim that his achievement probably is due to the fact that there are some short fences in the circuit, but the records of the players in that league do not compare with Besse's in the circuit clout line. If Besse was aided by short fences, why weren't the others? The answer seems to be that this Besse is a slugger far beyond the average.

Besse made only 121 hits during the season, for an average of .281, but the remarkable feature about his record is that more than half of his safeties were extra-basers. In addition to 34 homers, he poked out 6 triples and 24 two baggers—a total of 64 extra base hits—against 57 singles.

Deciding Game This Evening.

The deciding game of the Wood-Webster bowling series will be staged tonight at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. To date the Webster team have won five of the nine games and if they win tonight's encounter the bacon for the series will be theirs. Wood's followers, however, are certain that there can be only one outcome tonight—a victory for them. If such be the case another game will have to be bowled. These matches are keenly contested and are the center of interest of all local bowlers because of the calibre of the men on the teams.

New Pilot Engaged.

Burton Briggs of Cosackie, has secured a berth with the Saucerties & New York Steamboat Co. as pilot aboard the steamer Ulster. Mr. Briggs, who is a brother of Henry Briggs, a former pilot on the Saucerties boats, has been employed aboard the Hudson Navigation Co. line boats the past few years.

WILLARD NOW A REAL CHAMPION

New York, March 27.—Jesse Willard today remains as supreme ruler in the world of pugilism. His wonderful physical powers, added to his recently acquired cleverness, make it seem practically certain that he will reign for years to come; will retain the crown until beaten either by old age or a foe more powerful and huger.

Those who scoffed Willard in the past are silent now. The showing of the giant Kansas on Saturday night against Frank Moran has convinced the skeptics that he is the peer of every ring warrior; that none can compare with him; that he is a champion in every sense of the word. Willard met the best man in the ranks of the challengers when he encountered Moran—and he beat the Pittsburgher decisively. There is no room for argument as to the result of that bout. The champion beat his rival in every department. He took everything Moran had to give—and kept coming for more. He stood up under the battering of Moran's terrific right—and smiled when most of his swings landed.

Whether Willard would have been able to put down Moran for the count had he not been handicapped from the third round on with a broken finger in his right hand, is a question. If the right had not been injured Willard might have scored a knockout—and he might not—because Moran showed that he was able to take far more punishment than Willard doled out.

Willard's showing in his Moran fight was far superior to that in his 26 round battle against Jack Johnson. He fought with greater confidence and more aggressiveness. He was faster, headier and displayed cleverness far beyond that which he exhibited in Cuba. And from the third round on he fought a fast and furious fight. Moran today is asking for another chance at the champion, over a decision route. Whether he could win is doubtful. The Pittsburgher probably could beat a man at his weight—202 pounds—but he does not seem good enough to "spot" Willard almost 60 pounds and win.

There is glory for Moran even in his defeat. The way he stood up under the Willard bombardment was marvelous. In only two rounds and he laid as the offensive fighter. He showed but little ring sense. He threw his skill to the winds and willingly took punches in his eagerness to land his powerful right.

Time and again Moran swung that blow to Willard's jaw and body, but without result. The punches had enough power to floor any ordinary man—but Willard, in his ability to assimilate punishment, showed himself the superman. He took everything that Moran had to give—and kept coming. The smaller man almost wore out himself battering the champion—and he failed to floor him.

Willard's great height and reach handicapped Moran. Often the Pittsburgher swung a right for the head but it fell short. Oftener Willard's long reach enabled him to hold off Moran after the challenger had set himself for a terrific punch. And when Moran landed to the head his blows didn't have force behind them because the power of the drive was lost in the long overhead swing.

The fight satisfied the fans. It really was a slam bang affair. Round after round the men stood toe to toe and slugged. Rarely was there a round when one didn't drive the other to the ropes with a fusillade of blows.

The most sensational round was the seventh. When the bell called the men into action in the seventh, Willard rushed from his corner and met Moran with a stinging uppercut. He followed it with two more and Moran covered. Then Willard began beating Moran's head with right and left smashes and had delivered at least fifteen blows, with Moran backed against the ropes, before the Pittsburgher tried to wiggle away.

As Moran worked his way into the center of the ring, he seemed a pitiable sight. His knees seemed to double under him and he staggered. Willard saw this and like lightning flashed terrific right and left to the head and body. It looked like a knockout for Willard when, suddenly Moran straightened up, shot a left to Willard's body and then, while Willard was trying to recover from his amazement, Moran delivered the most crushing blow of the fight. It was his famous right and it crashed against Willard's jaw. The champion seemed dazed and backed to the ropes, covering. Like a madman Moran rushed at him and banged Willard's head and body with everything he had. While the Moran crowd was shrieking in frenzy for Moran to "kill him" the bell ended the battering.

Yes, it was a real fight, with Moran displaying wonderful gameness and punching power. But he went against a better man—the greatest in the ring today—and he was beaten.

Miller A. C. Reorganized.

At a meeting of the Miller A. C. baseball team, held at the home of Silas Soper on Brewster street on Sunday afternoon, the team was reorganized for the coming season. Election was held and those elected were Leo E. Weber, manager, and treasurer, Edward Butler. Those who will compose the team are: George Moxham, left field; James Kiernan, center field; John Neuman, right field; George Rocne, third base; Silas Soper, short stop and pitcher; John Joyce, second base; Edward Butler, first base; H. Robertson, short stop and pitcher; Charles Mains, catcher. This is a very strong lineup and the team expects to do some good playing the coming season. Games will be booked with some fast teams throughout the city and county. After the meeting refreshments were served and a most enjoyable hour was spent. Teams desiring games can do so by writing to Leo E. Weber, Box 38, Rondout Station, Rondout, N. Y.

Killed Fox With Whip.

John Barnum, of Olivera, while driving from his home to Pine Hill on Wednesday, saw something lying in the road ahead of his horse near the Cruikshank estate. Upon investigation he discovered a fox asleep. As he approached it, the fox started to run but Barnum struck it with his whip, killing it. John is now eligible to the Catskill Mt. Sportsmen's Club.
